AS BABIES WAILED MOTHERS RELATED STRIKE HORRORS

Women of the West Virginia Mining Camps Describe Conditions to the United States Senate Probers.

MOTHER NOT ALLOWED TO CLEAN BABY'S GRAVE

Former Governor Glasscock Preceded the Women and Defended His Course in Declaring Martial Law.

Charleston, W. Va., June 13.—The senate mine strike investigating committee tonight began examination of the women of the mining camp. Seven of these women were waiting and three carried little children, whose crying occasionally interrupted the examination.

Mrs. Sarah Blizzar of Eskdale, said that she started for neighbor's last April, and while wal. g along the railroad track had been ordered back by a mine guard.

"He said I looked like 'Mother Jones' to him and told me to hit the dirt down the road," said Mrs. Blizzard.

Mrs. George Parker turned her little baby over to her gray-bearded father, while she told the committee that a guard named Jackson had prevented her from visiting a graveyard in Cabin Creek to "clean up the grave of her baby."

Mrs. Maud Estep, whose husband was killed when the armored train clashed with the miners at Holly Grove, on February 7, carried in her arms a baby born after the death of her husband. She described how the little family was seated in the living room when the train drew up and the shooting commenced.

"My husband tried to get us all into the cellar," she said, "but when he got around on the outside of the house and was calling to us, I heard a bullet hit him. When the shooting was over I found him dead."

Stopped On Way to Cemetery.

Mrs. Mina West, who also carried a little baby, told of being stopped twice by guards at Eskdale, while on her way to visit the cemetery.

Mrs. Maud Fish, who lived at Holly Grove camp, in the tents, told of being evicted from her home by twenty-two mine guards led by a mine superintendent.

"They hauled our things out and threwed them down into the bottom," she said.

Mrs. Sevilla, Italian, recounted through an interpreter how guards had come to her home, and when she refused to give them the keys to her trunk, had knocked her down. One of them kicked her. As a result of the experience, she said, a baby was born to her dead, two months later.

Mayor Thoman, the interpreter for Mrs. Sevilla, evoked a sharp exchange between counsel. General Watts, representing the operators, wanted to show that Roman was one of the union men indicted in the federal courts under the Sherman law. Attorney Houston, for the union, objected.

"If that goes in," said Mr. Houston to Attorney Jackson, for the operators, in an undertone, "I would like to show who was behind these indictments. The attorneys for the coal operators drew these indictments."

"They did not," replied Mr. Jackson.

"Oh, yes they did," retorted Mr. Houston.

"Those indictments were drawn in the office of Brown, Jackson and Knight."

Then followed witnesses, who told of conditions on Paint and Cabin Creeks under the mine guards. B. A. Scott said the creeks had been quiet for ten years until the guards were brought in.

Glasscock Defends Cause.

Before the women were examined, former Governor Glasscock told the committee that the sheriff and county prosecutor of Kanawha county informed him they were unable through civil courts to control the strike district and had urged the declaration of martial law.

"There was a reign of terror in the strike district," said the former governor, "twenty-five or thirty murders had been committed and no prosecutions had been made in the courts. I considered martial law an absolute necessity."

"Miners and other were coming to me," said the former governor, "and

"Knee-Deep In June"

The beauties of the rarest summer month are for all of us, no matter what our condition.

Few things are universal in their appeal, except those that belong exclusively to nature.

Of man-made institutions the daily newspaper is notable for its universal interest. Everybody who can read, reads it. There is something to interest every one in virtually every newspaper.

As in the news columns, so among the advertisements. It is safe to say that you cannot go through the advertisements today without finding something you should have.

Try it now if you have not done so. You may save yourself a lot of time, money or work, each one of which is a valuable consideration.

S. H. PHELAN, SR., DIES IN CRAWFORD COUNTY

The Capital City Club Was Organized in Office of the Former Atlantan.

S. H. Phelan, Sr., who up to eight years ago had been a resident of Atlanta, and was one of the best known citizens here, died suddenly on his plantation in Crawford county yesterday. He was 60 years old last February.

Born in Montgomery, Ala., he served in the confederate army as a member of the famous Phelan battery, being one of the youngest confederates who ever entered the service. He had seven brothers, all of whom were in the war.

The deceased came to this city thirty years ago, and was engaged in business here for many years. Eight years ago he retired from business, and since then had lived on his plantation in Crawford county.

The Capital City club, of which he was one of the charter members, was organized in his office. He was a director of the Cotton States exposition, held here in 1895, and took a prominent part in all movements for the advancement of the city. For a long time he was one of the vestrymen of St. Luke's Episcopal church.

He is survived by seven children, four daughters and three sons. They are: Mrs. U. S. Atkinson, Mrs. E. E. Dallis and Mrs. A. W. Goldsmith, Jr., of Atlanta, and Mrs. Barry Wright, of Rome; M. G. Phelan and S. H. Phelan, Jr., of Atlanta, and Leman Phelan, who lived with his father in Crawford county.

The remains will be brought here for interment, funeral announcements to be made later.

"DRY" LEADER FELLED IN ILLINOIS HOUSE

Wilson Knocked Down by Gorman and a Riot Narrowly Averted.

Springfield, Ill., June 13.—A riot was narrowly averted in the house of representatives of Illinois legislature at 6 o'clock today when Representative Thomas N. Gorman, of Peoria, assisted Representative George H. Wilson, of Quincy, the "dry leader" in the house, and knocked him down. Speaker McKinley finally succeeded in restoring order and prevented a free-for-all fight on the floor between the friends of Gorman and Wilson.

While a member was making a speech Representative Wilson had gone to the rear of the hall and was talking to several democratic "drys," when Representative Gorman, in a tone loud enough to be heard throughout the hall, called to him saying:

"Get out of here, you piker—go back where you belong."

Wilson's reply which later caused the assault was not loud enough to be heard, but when Wilson started back to his seat a few moments later he encountered Gorman. With one blow to Wilson's jaw Gorman knocked him down. The noise of Wilson's falling attracted the attention of the whole house and in an instant things were in an uproar. Half a dozen members sitting on the rear seats jumped over the railing and managed to pull Gorman away. Others raised Wilson to his feet. The whole house was soon in disorder. Members crowded into the aisles shouting. "Throw him out" and "Expel that member." When the speaker was finally able to make his voice heard he said:

"Let us decide tomorrow, or at some other time, when we are a little cooler than we are now."

After a short period of quiet Representative Gorman started for the rear of the hall, presumably to renew the attack on Wilson. A friend of Gorman's seized him, but Gorman, a large and powerful man, dragged the friend down the aisle until others went to his aid. It took the strength of half a dozen of the strongest members on the democratic side to force Gorman back to his seat.

Gorman's second demonstration threw the house into another turmoil of excitement and disorder, but he quieted the session by voluntarily leaving the hall.

The trouble between Gorman and Wilson is the first outbreak of extremely bad feeling that has been growing for several days between "wet" and "dry" members of the house. It was predicted tonight that more trouble of a like character might occur before sine die adjournment next week.

"BRIDGIE" WEBBER STABBED IN BACK

One of Chief Witnesses in the Rosenthal Case Attacked on East Side—Refuses to Tell Who Stabbed Him.

New York, June 14.—"Bridgie" Webber, one of the principal witnesses in the Rosenthal murder case, was stabbed in the back on an East Side street early this morning.

Shortly before 1 o'clock a man, whose identity was then unknown, walked up to a policeman at the corner of Ninth street and Broadway and complained that he was suffering from loss of blood as the result of a stab wound. He described himself as Louis Harris, a broker, 35 years old, but when he had been removed to St. Vincents hospital detectives recognised the wounded man as Webber. They declared they were certain of it. The man refused to tell the police who had stabbed him, or of any on the circumstances.

It was said at the hospital at 2:30 o'clock this morning that the man would undoubtedly recover. Shortly after the conviction of Police Lieutenant Charles S. Becker and four gunmen as the murderers of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, there were many rumors of plots against the witnesses, but the attack on Webber this morning is the first instance of harm that has come to any of the men.

FRIENDS MAKE FIGHT FOR MRS. LONGSTREET

Subcommittee Wanted to Investigate—Action on Mrs. Ham Deferred.

Washington, June 13.—The case of Mrs. Longstreet, widow of the confederate general, for whom a successor has been named by President Wilson, as postmistress at Gainesville, Ga., was before the senate again today. Friends of Mrs. Longstreet have determined to request the appointment of a subcommittee to investigate the circumstances connected with the change in the Georgia office. Action upon the confirmation of her successor, Mrs. H. W. J. Ham, was deferred by the senate.

TWO BIRDMEN KILLED BY FALL OF AIRSHIP

London, June 13.—Lieutenant James R. B. Kennedy, of the naval wing of the royal flying corps, was killed and C. Gordon Bell, another aviator, seriously injured in the fall of a monoplane near the Brookland's aerodrome today. Bell was driving the machine with Kennedy as a passenger.

The monoplane, at a height of about 30 feet, was flying at the rate of 80 miles an hour when Bell began to turn and banked the machine at too great an angle. The nose of the machine dipped suddenly and a wing struck the ground, causing the aeroplane to turn turtle. Both Kennedy and Bell were buried in the wreckage.

This is the second fatality in the royal flying corps in less than a month. Lieutenant Desmond L. Arthur, of the Fifth battalion, royal munster fusiliers, having been killed near Montrose, Scotland, May 27.

HE REALIZED $75,000 FROM WHITE SLAVERY

Philadelphia, June 13.—Pleading guilty to violating the Mann white slave act, Pete Hassos, who is said to have admitted that he realized $75,000 from the white slave traffic during the past four years, was sentenced to sixteen months in the penitentiary by Judge Thompson in the federal court here today.

According to Inspector Garbarin, of the department of justice, the only witness called, Haspel was married three times and placed two of his wives in disreputable houses and even brought his sister from Roumania to lead an immoral life here.

SUPPOSED ASSASSIN BATTLES THE POLICE

Constantinople, June 13.—A man named Zia, supposed to be one of Grand Vizier Mahmoud Schefket Pasha's assassins, gave battle today when the police surrounded him in a house where he was hidden. A police officer was probably fatally shot, a magistrate wounded and Zia himself mortally wounded. The police had to call troops, however, before they overcame Zia's companions, who barricaded themselves in an upper story.

Suffragettes Gather From Many Countries

Delegates from twenty-six countries, including South Africa, China, Burma, Persia and every European country except Turkey, will meet at the sixth convention of the International Women Suffrage Association, to be held in Budapest from June 15 to June 20. Among the delegates will be writers, lecturers, artists, actresses, women prominent in politics, as is Mrs. Charles Lees, mayor of Oldham, England, and women of wealth, like Mrs. G. H. P. Belmont, of New York. The Countess Szechenyi, formerly Gladys Vanderbilt, will be one of the Hungarian delegates. The congress will be presided over by a New York woman, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, the international president. The fact that so many countries never before represented in a suffrage congress are sending delegates is due to a trip around the world from which Mrs. Catt returned last January. In the course of which she organized the suffragists in Iceland, India, Persia, Gallacia, South Africa and other countries where the movement is in its infancy. The American delegates (each country is allowed to send twelve) will be Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, Mrs. Frederick Nathan, Mrs. Henry Villard and Mrs. William Todd Helmuth, of New York; Miss Jane Addams, Mrs. Stanley McCormick and Mrs. Joseph Bowen, of Chicago; Mrs. Crystal Eastman Benedict, of Milwaukee; Mrs. Emma B. Sweet, of Rochester; Miss Ruutz-Rees, of Connecticut, and Miss Anna Maxwell Jones, of Texas. On Sunday, June 15, the Rev. Anna Howard Shaw will open the convention with a sermon. There will be a luncheon on the Isle of Marguerite, to which the delegates will be conveyed in launches and rowboats. In the evening they will attend the Opera Fares, usually closed at this season, which has been kept open for their benefit. Monday will be taken up with business meetings and drives, and in the evening the city of Budapest will hold a formal reception presided over by the mayor. The first public meeting will take place on Thursday evening, when short speeches in English, French or German, the languages of the convention, will be made by Miss Jane Addams, Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman, Dr. Aletta Jacobs, Mrs. Millicent Fawcett, president of the English non-militant organization; Frau Stitt, the Marchesa Lucifero, and the Countess Pardo, of the Spanish ministry of education.

CLOSE TO $88,000,000 LEFT BY COL. ASTOR

Largest Estate Ever Appraised in United States—Bulk to Vincent Astor.

New York, June 13.—The estate of Colonel John Jacob Astor, who perished in the Titanic disaster, was officially appraised this afternoon at close to $88,000,000, of which Vincent Astor receives $68,964,499; Mrs. Madeline Force Astor $7,678,896; Muriel Astor $4,856,758, and John Jacob Astor, son of his second marriage, $2,922,672.

The estate is declared to be the largest ever appraised in this country.

Aside from the announcement of the amounts that revert to the heirs there are two features of special interest in the appraisal.

One is the affidavit of the examiners that the property embraces in the ante-nuptial agreement for Mrs. Ava Willing Astor, amounting to about $1,728,000, which was to have reverted to her at the time of her husband's death, now terminates and goes to Vincent Astor for the reason that the youth's mother, although once Colonel Astor's wife, was not his widow. Mrs. Ava Willing Astor divorced her husband, whose legal widow is Mrs. Madeline Force Astor.

The second feature concerns the inheritance tax of Colonel Astor. The estate saved a large sum by paying $2,150,000 to the state last October, within six months of Colonel Astor's death, this payment earning a five per cent rebate. The sum mentioned greatly exceeds any amount ever paid to any state as an inheritance tax, it is declared.

The appraisers placed the real estate value at about $63,100,000 and the value of the personal property close on to $25,000,000.

Including both real and personal property, the estate is divided approximately as follows:

Owned by J. J. Astor absolutely, $51,300,000.

Life interest under trust funds established by William Astor, $32,240,000.

Ante-nuptial trust, Mrs. Ava Willing Astor, $1,728,000, which reverts to Vincent Astor.

Two ante-nuptial trusts, Mrs. Madeline Force Astor, totalling $1,450,000.

Property in trust created by William Astor, life interest by J. J. Astor and which passed to Vincent Astor, $356,000.

FRIDAY, JUNE 13TH, PROVED UNLUCKY FOR THIS ATLANTAN

"There goes my new Panama," a man said yesterday as the man wearing apparel flew under a passing auto as he started to enter a Pine street car. The unlucky man was W. T. Ford, of the Peachtree Inn, a salesmanager for Scribner's.

This was at 8 a. m. And it was Friday, June 13, in the year 1913. So of course his trouble didn't end there.

"Gee, I never was a superstitious man before. In fact, I've always made fun of superstitions, but from now on —take it from me, I have been converted.

"After I had bought me another straw, I went into a Peachtree barber shop. I wanted a shave—but what I got was a first-class whisker cutting. That barber's razor slipped three times.

"Then as I was walking down Peachtree, near Five Points, I was stopped by a nicely dressed man who asked me to change $5. I did it, and then bumped into a telegraph pole accidentally, and broke my reading glasses which I carry in a case.

"But that isn't the end of the story. Just after I had made a big sale, I started to rise gently from a chair. There was a nail on that chair, and it caught my new trousers. There was a gentle ripping sound, and by the feeling I knew that it had ripped both ways. So I backed out as nicely, as I might have done to a king of old Ireland.

"It was then 6:30 o'clock in the afternoon, all the clothing stores had closed, and the repair shops as well. So I hired a cab, and drove in state to the Peachtree Inn. And then the climax was reached—I found that that bill which I changed for the nice looking chap on Peachtree was phoney. At least the cabby said so, and I had to borrow a quarter to pay for my transportation.

"No, sir; no more jinx days for me. That was absolutely the limit."

Fearing Friday, the 13th, Mrs. J. M. Gilbert Is Struck By Locomotive and Killed

Danville, Ga., June 13.—Mrs. J. M. Gilbert, relict of the late Dr. J. M. Gilbert, and prominent socially, was run down here and instantly killed this morning on the tracks of the Macon, Dublin and Savannah railroad.

Before leaving her home this morning, Mrs. Gilbert stated to relatives that she feared to leave the house today as it was Friday, the 13th of the month.

Mrs. Gilbert was struck by outgoing passenger train from Macon, No. 106.

33 YEARS IN PRISON, DEATH FREES CONVICT

Warden and Penitentiary Officials Will Pay Tribute to "Uncle John" Sunday.

John Ross, of Nova Scotia, Can., aged 63 years, a lifer at the United States penitentiary at Atlanta, died yesterday. He had served thirty-three years in prison.

With the passing of "Uncle John" as he was familiarly known within prison walls, the city of sorrows lost one of its most unique characters.

Born in Canada, he left home at the age of 20, shipped as a sailor before the mast; a number of years later he engaged in a drunken brawl in Yokohama, Japan, and killed a fellow sailor in a discussion over a bauble. The United States consular court in Japan sentenced him to life imprisonment. That was on May 30, 1880.

In February, 1902, he was brought to the Atlanta prison, shortly after it was completed. Here he became converted, and at the time of his death was president of the prison Christian Endeavor society.

While there he endeared all who came in contact with him. His fellow prisoners loved him because he never "snitched." The warden and guards loved him because he never lied, did his duty well, and played the part of a man.

During his last years his health failed, and he was made one of the prison door keepers, and became a familiar sight to those who visited the prison.

Seated at his gate, his white hairs and stooped frame made him an object of comment to those who could never know him except by a mere prison number.

While in prison he was an influence for good. And Sunday afternoon, when the last simple rites over his body will be held in the funeral chapel of Barclay & Brandon's, the warden of the penitentiary, and many of the guards will be present to pay a last tribute to a man who was a prisoner—but "a man a' that."

The interment will take place at West View cemetery.

ASCENDED 6,200 FEET IN HYDRO-AEROPLANE

Annapolis, Md., June 13.—Lieutenant J. H. Bellenger, of the navy aviation corps here, attained an altitude of 6,300 feet in a hydro-aeroplane today, breaking the best previous navy record of 4,450 feet for the same type of machine. Lieutenant Bellenger was in the air 45 1-2 minutes. His actual ascending time was 44 minutes, 5 1-2 minutes being consumed in the descent.

LOBBY SKELETONS WILL BE DANGLED IN THE LIMELIGHT

Probers Strike Trails Indicating Campaigns to Influence Opinion Are Waged by Paid Agents.

PRESIDENT WILSON FIGURES IN EVIDENCE

Senator Galliner Alleges the President Has Come "Perilously Close to Lobbying." Lodge to Be Called.

Washington, June 13.—Lobbying as a fine art, how it is done and who is responsible, what ends are sought, and what results are accomplished, probably will be investigated by the special senate lobby committee before it concludes its work and submits a report to the senate.

For nearly two weeks the five senators on the committee have listened to testimony that has dealt almost exclusively with the influence exerted on the tariff bill, but it has uncovered enough trails to lead members to believe that campaigns of every sort, political, industrial and economic, have been conducted much along the same lines, through paid agents and efforts to create public sentiment favorable to the causes concerned.

To Broaden Scope.

In executive session tonight the committee decided to submit to the senate the question of a further broadening of the scope of its inquiry. The investigation has taken so much time that some senators on the committee thought that it might be well to limit its activities to a complete inquiry into lobbying for and against sugar and wool, but after a half hour's session, Chairman Overman was instructed to lay the whole matter before the senate.

It was believed tonight that the time limit of twenty days fixed when the committee would be extended, and that the investigation would go into every possible phase of what the committee suspects is lobbying. Any skeletons that have dangled in the closets of congress and any soiled linen that may have hung there will be exhibited to the public eye, and legislation to impose drastic restrictions upon lobbying and the "education" of public opinion may result. Chairman Overman said at the conclusion of the executive session that none could see how long the inquiry might take if an extension of time is granted and the committee takes up the broad subject of general lobbying.

Wilson Figures In Testimony.

The committee's decision came at the end of a day filled with sensations. On two occasions President Wilson figured in the testimony. Senator Gallinger told the committee that in his opinion the president had once at least come "dangerously near lobbying," and Truman B. Palmer, Washington representative of the United States Steel Corporation, declared that a "plate matter" campaign much similar to the one conducted in newspaper by him had accompanied the campaigns of the president and Representative Underwood before the Baltimore convention.

Senator Gallinger's statements came as a profound sensation. He was about to leave the stand when Senator Reed asked a final question.

"When a man says that he would hang some one 'as high as Haman' if that person did not do certain things," said Senator Gallinger, "and that an industry which proposed reduction of wages and did so would be investigated. I think that is about the worst kind of influence I can imagine."

"What do you think of a public official that gets up a scare about an insidious lobby?" asked Senator Nelson.

To Influence Public Men.

"That he intends to influence public opinion and the opinion of public men," returned Senator Gallinger.

"Would you regard it as a specie of lobby?"

"From my own inability to define the term to my own satisfaction, perhaps I would not like to say. It was a species of lobby influence."

"It was an intimation that men are afraid to use their own judgments lest the people suspect them of lobbying," persisted Senator Nelson.

"It so impressed me," replied Senator Gallinger.

"You think, then, that members of congress can be intimidated?" asked Chairman Overman.

"I have no disposition to criticise you officials for cheap partisan purposes," returned Gallinger.

Mr. Gallinger added that he did not know that many democrats were complaining because more offices were not filled and more nominations not sent to the senate.

"You don't mean to intimate that the president is holding up appointments to compel them to vote for legislation they don't desire?"

"I make no charge."

Gallinger's "Little Rocky Farm."

Senator Gallinger told the committee he had no interests outside of a "little rocky farm in New Hampshire," where he raised hay and apples. He knew of no improper influences or lobbying methods.

"During my public life of four years in the house and twenty-two years in the senate," he said, "I have never been approached by any one in behalf of any legislation that seemed to me improper.

"So long as men can properly exert influence to secure legislation, as has been done in very high quarters, it ought to be permitted to the interested parties to use personal appeal in opposition to that legislation," said he.

Chairman Overman asked Senator Gallinger for his opinion on the changing of a public document after it had been ordered printed by the senate. It developed in testimony yesterday that such a thing had been done in a document franked by Senator Lodge.

"I would consider that absolutely indefensible, if not criminal," returned Senator Gallinger.

How Palmer Changed Document.

Truman G. Palmer, head of the Washington offices maintained by the beet sugar interests, testified on how the senate document, "Sugar at a Glance," was changed after the senate ordered it printed. The document was widely circulated under Senator Lodge's frank.

When the senate granted Mr. Lodge's request that certain charts and other data be printed as a document, said Palmer, many of the charts were not completed. He finished the work and submitted a completed dummy form to Senator Lodge. The latter wired him from Boston that he would "forward the dummy to the public printer with my approval." Palmer produced letters and telegrams.

Senator Lodge also wrote Palmer telling him the completed document was a "fine piece of work." In forwarding the document to the public printer Lodge wrote that it "meets with my entire approval in its present form."

The letter from Lodge to Palmer, upon the strength of which the latter told the committee yesterday that he felt he was authorized to act for Senator Lodge," also was produced from the government printing office. It referred only to the reprinting of some of the plates in the sugar documents and represented Palmer as one who would be able to tell the officials just what Senator Lodge wanted.

Campaigns of Big Interests.

Senator Cummins cross-examined Mr. Palmer at length about details of his newspaper campaign and developed that to the best knowledge of the witness many of the big interests of the country were engaged in similar efforts to mold the opinion of the country.

The question of who was responsible for an alleged senate order for the publication as a public document of data prepared by Truman G. Palmer in "Sugar at a Glance" bobbed up again before adjournment, when Chairman Overman announced that the committee intended to call Ansel Wolde, printing clerk of the senate. Statements made to him and to Senator Nelson by Mr. Palmer, he said, showed that only one order had been made by the senate, although two are alleged to have been made.

Senator Lodge, who secured an order for the printing of charts made by Mr. Palmer, will take the stand to explain the connection with "Sugar at a Glance" if he desires, and Mr. Palmer, whose testimony was concluded today, will be held here until this matter is cleared up.

Mr. Palmer had been on the stand for several hours when Senator Cummins led him into a discussion of what he knew of other publicity campaigns like his own.

"I understand the same concern that we insist, Mr. Overman from Publication, was used by both Mr. Wilson and Mr. Underwood in their nominating campaigns in the same way," said the witness. "I am speaking of campaigns that are made to affect public opinion which in turn is intended to influence legislation."

Senator Cummins went on to ask if the railroad and banking interests in New York did not employ men to "create a public opinion."

"I have heard it so stated," said Mr. Palmer.

"And what I have said of the banking interests and the railroad interests is true of all the large corporations, is not?" Senator Cummins asked.

"That is my understanding."

Couldn't Pack Them in Room.

"Can you give the committee the names of those people so that we can get them here and have a round-up of the whole business of trying to color public opinion this way?"

"From my present information I do not think you would have enough space in this room for them all; it would get them all together but I have no personal information as to who they are."

I think that is one of the things that ought not to be done in this country, and I would be very glad to give it publicity here in order that we may, if possible, find some measure of correction. It is general knowledge that any quantity of large interests are doing that thing," Senator Cummins said.

"We never would have thought of it had it not been that others were doing it, and it seemed to be a general thing with the American Press association," said Mr. Palmer. "The two gentlemen who came to me were particular to impress upon me that they were doing this work for Mr. Wilson and Mr. Underwood prior to the nomination."

"Do you engage in their campaigns for nomination?"

"In their campaign for nomination. That is what I was told."

"Are there any other such associations?" asked Senator Cummins.

"A great many."

"Can you give us the names of some others?"

"The Western Newspaper Union in Chicago is one, and the American has branch offices in the different states."

A. G. Robinson, of Washington, and F. M. Hathaway, of Detroit, were examined by the committee today.

He Wrote Sugar Booklet.

Robinson said he had written for Cuba sugar men an article afterwards printed in booklet form which was circulated among senators, representatives and others. He had also written several magazine and newspaper articles on sugar.

Mr. Hathaway said he was secretary of the Michigan Sugar company, a concern with six constituent companies capitalized at $12,500,000, of which about $11,000,000 has been issued.

He had been in Washington since March, received a salary of $7,500 as secretary, had talked with many senators about the sugar provision of the tariff and had filed a brief with the finance subcommittee in charge of the sugar sections.

Senator Reed Sees Secretary Redfield, but had been told by Assistant Secretary Sweet that the sugar subject had been settled. He testified that the American Sugar Refining company, owned between 33 and 34 per cent of the Michigan company's stock. Senator Reed asked him if it was not true the refining company's stock had been held in trust for it by Charles B. Warren, president of the company, although accredited to him personally on the books. Mr. Hathaway preferred that Mr. Warren give his own testimony on this matter.

Reed Stirs Palmer.

During the concluding hours of Mr. Palmer's testimony, Senator Reed again took him over the ground about the printing of "Sugar at a Glance," as a public document. He showed him the original charts that hung in the senate chamber when Mr. Lodge made his sugar speech; that subsequently appeared in the pamphlet, and Mr. Palmer again agreed that he had made changes in some of the charts, left some out that had appeared in the senate, and modified the form of others. When Senator Reed continued to press him he grew indignant.

"You seem to think that because I represent the beet sugar industry," he said, "I am a liar. You seem to be seeking to disclose some skulduggery. I say there is not a line on those charts that wasn't there when they came from the public printing office."

Senator Reed and Senator Nelson came near another clash during his examination, when the Minnesota senator thought Mr. Palmer had talked long enough about "Sugar at a Glance."

"You are not trying a criminal case here," said Senator Nelson turning to Senator Reed. "We don't need such minutiæ."

"I have tried a few cases myself," returned Senator Reed, "I think I know what I'm doing."

FIRE NEAR BALTIMORE CAUSES $350,000 LOSS

Baltimore, June 13.—Losses aggregating $350,000 were caused by a fire tonight at Wagner's Point, just south of here on the Patapsco river. The blaze started in the boiler room of the Martin Wagner Packing company, canners of oysters, fruit and vegetables, and quickly communicated to the plants of the East Baltimore Soy company and the American Can company, totally destroying all three. All were insured.

SUFFRAGE IS FAVORED FOR AMERICAN WOMEN

Senate Committee Urges Passage of a Constitutional Amendment.

Washington, June 13.—Senator Ashurst submitted today the report of the woman's suffrage committee, recommending passage of the Chamberlian resolution for a constitutional amendment extending suffrage to women.

"That the granting of the elective franchise to women would aid to the strength, efficiency, justice and fairness of government, we have not the slightest doubt," says the report.

"It is anomalous and archaic in a free republic, professedly made up of, controlled by and administered for all the people, and today the denial of its citizens the right of exercising a valuable function of citizenship, thus excluding that one-half from the right and power to say what law or policy shall be its rule of conduct. And this anomaly becomes odious and abhorrent when we reflect that the particular half of citizenship thus excluded is the identical one-half from which springs so much wisdom, courage, cheer, hope and good counsel."

The report sets forth that things to be considered in granting equal franchise is whether women as a class will "vote whenever full opportunity is offered; attempt to comprehend the questions upon which they vote; attempt to learn something of the character and fitness of the person for whom they vote; vote against dishonest persons for office; oppose dishonest measures; refuse directly or indirectly any acceptance of a bribe; place the country above party; recognize the result of the election as the will of the people, and therefore, as the law and constitution, and for a righteous, although defeated cause, so long as there is a reasonable hope of success.

"We submit," the report concludes, "that the class of voters sought to be enfranchised by this resolution answer each and every one of *these in*terrogatories with distinguished credit to itself, and that it fully, fairly and in good faith measures up to these requirements. We, therefore, conclude that the resolution should be submitted to the states for their objection or ratification."

Senator Ashurst said he would use forceful energies to secure a vote on the resolution during the special session, but that he would not press it in such a way as to interfere with tariff legislation.

MRS. HODGSON HEADS RAOUL FUND TRUSTEES

The $50,000 fund left by William Greene Raoul for the prevention of tuberculosis was formally turned over to the executors at a meeting of the trustees Thursday evening at the home of Thomas Glenn, where plans for using the Raoul foundation were discussed.

Activity interested in the work of the Antituberculosis association during the closing years of his life, Mr. Raoul's ideas as to the most effective ways of combatting the white plague have been supported by his many friends in that organization, and the trustees are enthusiastic over the opportunity for good work, which his request has made possible.

Mrs. F. G. Hodgson, who has devoted much of her time to anti-tuberculosis work, was elected president of the trustees of the Raoul foundation, and the other officers are: John K. Ottley, vice president; Thomas K. Glenn, treasurer, and R. J. Guinn, secretary.

SHAW COLLECTION WILL BE SOLD ON WEDNESDAY

The famous Shaw collection of rare teakwood and mahogany furniture, tables and quaint bronzes and silver, gathered by Mrs. Francis D. Shaw, principally in Japan, will be sold at auction next Wednesday.

The collection has been declared by connoisseurs to be the finest in the south and one of the most complete in the United States. It comprises a Kiaka cabinet carved by Naechaki, the Manchurian master, and a collection of Satsuma over 3 bronzes, which are looked upon as among the genuine in this country. Two pieces of Satsuma bear the royal mark of the emperor.

The most interesting of the collection is a genuine Japanese totem pole of more that 1,500 years ago. It is genuine teak and declared to be only of the few ever imported from the Flowery Kingdom.

The entire collection will be sold by R. B. Herrod, auctioneer, acting under instructions of a receiver appointed by the court to dispose of the effects of the estate.

WILL A., B. & A. ENTER TERMINAL STATION?

Rumors that the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad are to abandon the Union depot and hereafter use the Terminal station, have gained credence since the Georgia Terminal company has taken action pointing towards the establishment of a branch line one quarter of a mile in length, connecting the A. B. and A. between Thurmond and Newton streets with the Southern at a point near Magnolia street.

Permission from the United States court to amend its charter, is said to be the next step contemplated by the Georgia Terminal company, which recently passed resolutions providing for a branch line "running from a point on its main line or extension of its present railroad between Thurmond and Newton streets in a general southeasterly direction across Magnum street, Newton street, Foundry street and Elliott street, to a connection with the Southern railway at a point near Magnolia street," and that "attorneys are hereby authorized to take all steps necessary for the purpose of amending this company's charter, authorizing the building of this branch or extension."

ADVANCES ON LUMBER FROM GEORGIA POINTS

Washington, June 13.—Advances ranging from one cent to four cents a hundred pounds in the freight rates on lumber from points of origin in Florida, Georgia, Alabama and some other points in the northwestern states, to Washington, D. C., Baltimore, Md., and destinations taking similar rates, and to certain points in New Jersey, today were sustained by the interstate commerce commission. Previous suspension of the advances were vacated.

CONLEY RELEASED, THEN REARRESTED

After a short hearing in his chambers yesterday Judge L. S. Roan, of the superior court, revoked his former order holding James Conley, the negro sweeper, as a material witness in the Phagan case, and ordered his release from the custody of the state. The negro was immediately rearrested and held by city detectives on a charge of suspicion.

By this the detective department and Solicitor Hugh Dorsey won their first point, as had the negro been ordered held by the state, he would have been transferred to the Tower and placed in the custody of the sheriff, where the detectives could not have reached him at their own free will.

Rosser Makes Protest.

Solicitor Dorsey secured the order for the release of the man who has sworn that Leo M. Frank, now under indictment for the murder of little Mary Phagan, is the real murderer, and Attorney Luther Z. Rosser, representing the indicted man, placed before the court a formal protest to the freeing of the negro.

William M. Smith, counsel for Conley, also filed a bill before the court on behalf of the negro, in which Conley swore to intimidation during the one night he spent at the jail, and declared that he had been approached by a man whom he believed to be in the employ of Frank, and that this man had given him sandwiches, which he feared to eat, and had offered him whisky.

Attorney Rosser stated that he did not wish to make the point that Conley was a material witness, but in his bill which he termed a "protest" declared that all evidence pointed to Conley as the murderer, and took Chief of Detective Newport Lanford severely to task for their treatment of the negro.

Attorney Rosser's Plea.

"To subject the defendant in court's presence of releasing the negro and immediately returning him to his wet nurses at police station would resemble child's play," said Attorney Rosser.

"That the detectives should wish to keep Conley in their custody and entertain him at the city's expense is not at all surprising," the attorney declared in his bill. "They have already stated from him extravagant, unthinkable and unbelievable confessions, three or four in number. To these they have given widest publicity, and to the credibility of the last have staked their reputations and hope of place."

Attorney Rosser also made the point in his answer that Chief Lanford was not a proper person in which to place the negro's custody, and declared that he should rightly be turned over to the sheriff of Fulton county, as an unbiased officer of the law, who had nothing at stake in the matter.

Sheriff's Force Indicted.

Officials of the sheriff's force have waxed redhot under the charges flung by Conley, his attorney and the detectives that the negro was allowed to be intimidated or threatened in any way while in jail, the grand jury has declared that should he be placed in the Tower that his safety from a legal and physical standpoint would be perfectly protected, and that no one would be allowed to see him except at his request.

Over all this stuff about intimidation of Conley or of any other man, white or black," is the defiance that the sheriffs hurl at their accusers.

KILLS HIS SWEETHEART, THEN TAKES OWN LIFE

After having slashed the throat of his sweetheart as she walked along Capitol avenue on the way home, Hilley Johnson, a negro living in the rear of 142 Capitol avenue, fled into an alley way and severed his own throat with a razor, dying instantly.

The injured girl was rushed to Grady hospital, where she died on the operating table. She was identified as May Belle Huckleberry, a maid who lives near Capitol avenue and Crumley street. She was unable to speak after receiving the death wound.

Dealing with the case have been the cauce. Eye-witnesses stated to Policemen Shumate and Palmer, who investigated the tragedy, that the girl, in company with another negro girl, was walking past No. 142 Capitol avenue on her way home.

Johnson, who was coming up Capitol avenue on the opposite side, crossed over as the girl and her companion passed under a street lamp. She carried a heavy walking stick. As he reached her, the man lunged at the girl with his razor. She struck him over the head with the stick. Lunging again, the man slashed his victim several times across the throat.

Coroner Donahoo will hold an inquest this morning.

BANKS MAY COLLECT DRAFTS FOR LIQUOR

Important Decision by United States Court of Appeals Regarding Prohibition.

St. Paul, June 13.—A bank which collects a sight draft representing the purchase price of liquor shipped in interstate commerce into a prohibition state does not violate the law prohibiting a carrier from acting as agent, according to an opinion handed down today by the United States court of appeals.

The opinion was delivered by Presiding Judge Sanborn, in reversing the decision of the district court of North Dakota in the case of the First National bank of Anamoose, which had been fined $200 in the lower court.

"The history of the times and the proceedings in congress which led up to the enactment of the state," says the opinion, "have convinced this court that the mischief at which it was leveled was not the collection of sight drafts by the banks or ordinary collectors for the purchase price of liquors, although bills of lading were attached thereto and delivered on collection, but that it was the collection by carriers or their agents, of the purchase price for C. O. D. shipments of liquor into prohibition states whereby they became virtually the agents of the liquor dealers in the selling of liquors.

"The collection of sight drafts and the delivery of bills of lading attached thereto long had been a common method of collecting the purchase price of liquors and other articles throughout the entire nation.

"This is a general law applicable to every state in the union, and it is incredible that congress intended without mentioning or referring to it in the statute to strike down this method of collecting for the sale of liquors transported to interstate commerce in all the states in the large majority of which the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors is not prohibited."

In a dissenting opinion, Judge Triber declares that the statute clearly includes not only all common carriers and their employees, but "any other person who is connected with the transportation of intoxicating liquors in interstate commerce, shall collect the purchase price thereof, before, on or after delivery, from the consignee or any other person," regardless of the fact that he is not an employee of the carrier.

A man named Meyers living at Anamoose, N. D. ordered a case of beer from St. Paul. The brewing company shipped the beer into North Dakota, a prohibition state, and received a bill of lading from the railroad under an agreement that the railroad would not deliver the beer to Meyers until he had presented the bill of lading to the agent at Anamoose.

The bill of lading was attached to a sight draft on Meyers for the purchase price of the beer, and was sent by the brewing company to the First National bank, of Anamoose, which agreed to collect from Meyers before delivering the bill of lading to him. After completion of the transaction the bank was indicted, convicted and fined in the federal court for violation of the penal code.

Reduction on Plate Glass.

Washington, June 13.—A reduction varying from three cents to six cents a hundred pounds in the freight rates on window glass, rolled glass and plate glass from Pittsburg, Pa., and Toledo, Ohio, to High Point, N. C., and other destinations in that furniture producing territory was ordered today by the interstate commerce commission. Reparation, the commission announced, would be granted to shippers under what were held to be unreasonable rates, but in no case the necessary proof of shipments could be made.

SPEER'S RECORDS ARE UNDER PROBE

McReynolds' Personal Representative Investigating Data Connected With Federal Judge's Administration.

Macon, Ga., June 13.—(Special.)—That the judicial records of Judge Emory Speer, from the time he went to the federal bench twenty-eight years ago until the present, are being investigated by Inspector J. T. Lewis, personal representative of Attorney General McReynolds, became known here for the first time today, although the investigation has been going on for a week.

Inspector Lewis has been probing newspaper records and looking over court data that has been kept in the federal building here for the past twenty-eight years. He is making the investigation thorough. He is going after information in and out of Macon, interviewing everybody that has had any connection whatever with the federal court in the last score of years. Wherever he gains information that he thinks will be of value to him he gets an affidavit. His investigation will likely continue for the next several weeks, if not longer.

It was reported that Inspector Lewis was here for the purpose of probing the facts in the recent Huff bankruptcy case, which has been in the federal court for the past fourteen years, but this report is denied. It was learned definitely today that the inspector is here investigating the complete judicial records of Judge Speer.

Just what information Inspector Lewis has gained since he began the investigation is not known.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE SILENT ON INVESTIGATION

Washington, June 13.—In the absence of Attorney General McReynolds officials of the department of justice today disclaimed knowledge of the reported investigation of Judge Emory Speer.

JINXES SO NUMEROUS THEY KILL EACH OTHER

All Atlanta felt the jinx that went with Friday, the thirteenth day of June of the thirteenth year of the twentieth century, but in no place was it more forcibly realized than in one downtown office.

This particular office is on the thirteenth our and its number is 1213, enough in itself to furnish a lifesized jinx, but in addition to that someone in the office was counting up the "thirteens" on Friday and discovered that there were just thirteenth men at work in the room.

The office is part of the suite of rooms of the Western Electric company, and, according to report, things went on as usual, so sensible as though there were no "thirteens" around.

"There's so many jinxes up here that they jess kill off each others' effect," is the way the office boy explained the case.

MEDICAL STAFF OPPOSES FRIEDMANN TREATMENT

At the regular monthly meeting of the medical staff of the Anti-Tuberculosis and Visiting Nurse association resolutions were adopted indorsing the action of the Fulton County Medical society opposing the use of the Friedmann treatment of tubercular patients with live germs until the United States commission, which is investigating it, has passed on it.

A committee was appointed to cooperate with a like committee from the Fulton County Medical society to suppress its use until further developments.

The committee appointed by the medical staff was composed of Dr. J. E. Summerlin, Dr. Allen H. Bunce and Dr. George M. Miles.

Will Arrange for Convention.

The program committee of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association will meet today at noon with the traveling salesmen of the city in the assembly hall of the Piedmont hotel to discuss arrangements for the coming convention of the association, to be held on August 4, 1913.

UNDERPASS CLOSING HAS HEARING TODAY

Central Will Allow Use of Part of Roadway When Forsyth Street Is Improved.

The closing of the Forsyth street underpass, one of the most important projects confronting the city, will be discussed at a meeting of the special committee, at 11 o'clock, this morning. Councilman T. J. Kimbrough, chairman of the committee, has asked members of the street committee and citizens interested to attend.

This project has been pending before the general council for several years. Complaints have been made against the underpass by property owners and citizens who are forced to use the street. The city recognizes the importance of closing the ugly gap.

Chairman Kimbrough announced that President Winburn, of the Central of Georgia railroad, had consented to let the city use part of its roadway across the Central's property when the underpasses are closed. However, in order to use the roadway, it is necessary that the city get the consent of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad, lessee of the Western and Atlantic.

J. W. Thomas, president of the N. C. and St. L., will probably attend the meeting which has been called primarily for the purpose of a conference.

ATLANTANS ARE URGED TO SHOW FLAG TODAY

Mayor James G. Woodward has issued a proclamation asking the people of Atlanta to display the stars and stripes on all public places and residences.

Today is the 136th anniversary of the adoption of the stars and stripes as the flag of this country. A number of patriotic citizens have arranged to observe the day in a fitting manner. At Fort McPherson there will be a drill and flag raising, and the national colors will be floated above the federal prison and postoffice. All the school and buildings under the control of the city will be decorated, and in a majority of the public institutions there will be exercises appropriate to the occasion.

COST OF FOOD IN JAIL TOO HIGH, SAYS BOARD

Since the board of county commissioners following the holding of the January grand jury investigations, have sought to enter into a contract with Sheriff Wheeler Mangum to pay him $1 per day for the food of the prisoners in the towers fight on the part of the sheriff is expected.

In previous years the sheriff was allowed 45 cents a day for feeding the prisoners in his charge. On the first of the year, acting under the provisions of the new act, the board took this over. They claimed to be able to feed the men in jail at a much smaller figure, and advice unwilling to pay the original price.

Stokes Found Guilty.

Will Stokes, indicted by a federal grand jury March 17, for violating the postal laws, was yesterday arraigned before Judge Newman, of the United States district court for trial. The evidence showed that Stokes, as an employee at the depot, had access to parcel post packages, and that on the date indicated a package consigned to a postoffice in New Jersey disappeared. Later the package was traced to Stokes. There were two counts in the indictment, and upon the first court the defendant was found guilty. Judge Newman imposed a sentence of two years in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta.

FREE DELIVERY SERVICE FOR DECATUR MONDAY

Postal inspectors are now in Decatur arranging the details for Decatur's free delivery service which will commence next Monday.

The routes for the carriers are being mapped out. The service will probably be instituted with two deliveries each day.

The people of Decatur have long wanted this convenience and they are happy in its installation.

VICE PROBE DROPPED, DECLARES FOREMAN

Grand Jury Will Devote Remainder of Session to Consideration of Routine Matters.

That the present grand jury will not undertake an investigation or go deeper into its vice probe was the substance of a statement made last night by Foreman L. H. Beck, who declared that the jury would meet again on Tuesday morning to investigate a number of routine criminal cases where the parties against whom the solicitor has asked indictments are in jail and where immediate action is desired.

"We have only two weeks left and it is necessary that we take up this routine business," said Foreman Beck.

"although you never can tell what the grand jury may do."

"The term of the present body will expire in the latter part of June, leaving us only two more weeks, and as we hardly ever meet more than three times each week, I don't see how we can get to any general investigations."

The fact that Attorney R. R. Jackson and John Gossett, an attacheo f his office, were called before the grand jury on Friday afternoon led to the rumor that the vice probe was again to be resumed and that Judge Jackson was to be asked in regard to his connection with injunctions taken out by women to prevent the police from moving them from their houses.

Foreman Beck declared that Judge Jackson has been called upon for testimony on an entirely different case, and one in no manner connected to the present mixup. Solicitor Hugh Dorsey stated that not until he read of it in the papers did he know that Judge Jackson had been before the body.

Following the statement made Friday that Colonel Thomas B. Felder had made a formal demand upon the grand jury that Frank Lumpkin make an investigation of the dictagraphing of himself and the denial that gre wout of it, came the announcement by both Foreman Beck and the solicitor that neither of them had seen such a request or knew anything of it.

LARGE AUDIENCE WILL ATTEND FREE CONCERT

It is expected that the largest audience which has gathered in the Auditorium-Armory since grand opera week will fill the amphitheater Sunday afternoon, when the Atlanta Music Festival chorus gives its big final free concert before disbanding for the summer. This chorus numbers between 400 and 500 voices, including some of the best singers in Atlanta. It is by far the largest and best trained chorus in the southern states. Organized a year or more ago by the Atlanta Music Festival association, it has had unusual opportunities for training under the direction of Dr. Percy J. Starnes, Atlanta's distinguished city organist.

The concert will begin promptly at 4 o'clock. It will take the place of the free Sunday organ concert, and the general public is cordially invited to be present. Sunday afternoon holds over 7,000 people, and it is expected that it will be filled to its capacity.

A brilliant program has been arranged by Dr. Starnes, and will be announced in detail Sunday morning. Dr. Starnes will be the director and Charles Sheldon the organist. There will be a final rehearsal of the chorus this evening at 8 o'clock, and all members are requested to be present.

BRADFORD BYRD WEDS MISS ERIN CUNNINGHAM

A wedding which was a surprise to all in newspaper circles and to other friends was that of Bradford Byrd, a well known newspaper man connected with The Journal, who was married on Thursday night to Miss Erin Cunningham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cunningham, of 299 East North avenue.

The ceremony, which was performed quietly at the home of the bride's parents by Rev. H. M. DuBose, pastor of the First Methodist church, was attended by a few friends of the bride and groom, who were apprised of the affair only a short time before it took place.

Mrs. Byrd is one of the most attractive brides of the season, and both she and her husband have scores of friends in Atlanta, who extend their best wishes. Mr. Byrd has been here about four years, and is a native of Florida.

HIGHER EFFICIENCY ASKED IN CORN BOYS

Special Prizes Will Be Offered Youngsters Who Are Working on Poor Ground.

H. G. Hastings, who has been reappointed chairman of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce corn show committee, announces that the object of the Georgia corn show work this year will be not so much to increase the total membership in the corn club as to produce a higher efficiency among the boys who are members, and to get a larger percentage of them to "come through"—that is, to make their acre according to all the corn show requirements, harvest it and take part in the exhibit.

While new members will be enthusiastically welcomed all over the state, it is only desired to enroll boys who will become members with the determination of carrying the work through. It was estimated last year that the total enrolled membership was abou. 10,000.

All the advanced efforts of the Atlanta committee and others throughout the state who are interested in the corn club work will be devoted to keeping the boys interested. This year discouragements for which the boys themselves are not responsible will be removed, in a way, by a special arrangement of supplementary prizes, by which boys who struggle along on poor ground will stand the same chance of winning with a proportionate increase as boys who begin with more fertile acreage.

VAUDEVILLE STARS GIVE SHOW FOR PRISONERS

Several of the artists playing this week at the Forsyth theater went out to the Federal prison yesterday morning and while there generously gave a very acceptable performance in the large auditorium for the benefit of the prisoners.

The eight hundred and fifty "men behind the walls" enjoyed the program and were enthusiastic in their praise of the splendid performance.

The party consisted of Chick Sale, the character comedian and impersonator; the Misses Mays and Addis, excellent singers, comediennes and acrobats; the John R. Gordon company, with Mr. Pickens, Mrs. Gordon and Miss Wadsworth, in a sunerb comedy sketch, and Signor Proloto, the eccentric violinist who makes his violin talk, whistle and play all sorts of antics and who kept the audience in a constant roar of laughter and thundering applause. All of these actors furnished a rich entertainment, long to be remembered.

WATCHING A "MOVIE," COLLECTOR DROPS DEAD

As he witnessed a film playlet, "Wamba, a Child of the Jungle," C. F. Maner, collector for the Elkin Drug company, dropped dead at 296 South Moreland avenue, drugist at the Alcazar theater Friday morning shortly after 9 o'clock.

He was discovered in a dying condition by an usher. His body was removed to the foyer and an ambulance was summoned, but resulted while the machine was on way from the hospital. Heart disease was given as the cause by the coroner's jury, which held an inquest at Patterson's chapel in the afternoon.

The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

CYCLE AND POLE BROKEN BUT THE RIDER ESCAPES

While attempting to make the curve at Carnegie and Spring streets without throwing out the clutch of his motorcycle, Dupont Hood was thrown to the ground Thursday evening and badly cut about the legs and fracturing his left foot. He was picked up by firemen of the No. 8 engine house, and medical aid was summoned at once. Two physicians attended him all through the night, giving him hypodermic injections.

It was at first thought that Mr. Hood was internally injured, as both his motorcycle and the telegraph pole with which he collided were smashed to pieces. However, Mr. Hood, who is connected with the city circulation department of The Constitution, was at his desk Friday morning, making light of his accident.

MERCURY IS CLIMBING; REACHED 83 FRIDAY

Back to normal summer conditions the temperature climbed Friday, and by 2 o'clock in the afternoon the thermometer registered 83.5 degrees, which is about the hottest weather felt in Atlanta in two weeks, and vastly differs from a few days of the week when the maximum was in the fifties.

The skies continued clear throughout the day and this same condition is forecasted today with indications of slightly warmer weather.

It means, according to weather indications, that the back bone of the wintry spell is broken, and that the remainder of June will be normally hot and fit for summer clothes and straw hats again.

ELKS WILL PAY HONOR TO U. S. FLAG TONIGHT

Public Cordially Invited to Attend Exercises at Home on Ellis Street.

With appropriate and interesting exercises tonight in their lodge rooms the Atlanta lodge of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks will celebrate the 136th anniversary of the birth of the United States flag.

The public has been cordially invited to attend the exercises. Patriotic songs rendered by some of the best vocal talent in Atlanta and addresses by well-known speakers upon appropriate subjects will carry out the observance of the occasion.

The order of Elks is essentially a patriotic one and bases its foundation on loyalty to the American flag. No one who is not an American can become a member of the order and annually each lodge is required to celebrate the anniversary of June 14, 1774, when the star spangled banner came into being.

The program, which will commence at 8 o'clock, will be opened by a selection by the orchestra, after which the audience will be requested to rise and sing the "Star Spangled Banner." The officers of the lodge will then carry out the introductory exercises as provided for in the ritual and the chaplain will formally open the proceedings with prayer.

Dr. David Marx, a member of the lodge, will deliver an address on "Elkdom," following a tenor solo by William Maurer.

Miss Regina Rambo will read the flag record, which will be followed by a solo by Mrs. Frederick E. Kelly. After a tribute to the flag from the Elk ritual, Rev. W. W. Memminger, a member of the lodge, will deliver an address on "A Tribute to the Flag."

In honor of the occasion Mrs. John Edgar McKee has composed verses, entitled, "We'll Stand by the Flag," and she will sing these following Mr. Memminger's tribute.

Walter P. Andrews, former exalter ruler, will deliver an oration, which will be followed by "Brown October Ale," and "Off to Philadelphia," by Willford Watters.

Singing of "America" and "Columbia" by the audience and a benediction by Dr. Marx will conclude the formal services.

WILL OF MRS. DODD VALID, SAYS ORDINARY

Relatives Had Attacked Her Bequest of $100,000 to Mercer.

After a hearing yesterday Ordinary John E. Wilkinson declared valid the will of Mrs. Barbara Dodd, in which she bequeathed $100,000 to Mercer university and left very little to her relatives.

The relatives protested that the woman, who died suddenly a few weeks ago, was laboring under a delusion in regard to them which amounted to a monomania, and held that she was not capable of disposing of her property.

She was the widow of the late Philip Dodd, at one time a prominent merchant of Atlanta, and her relatives claim that after his death she contracted an unfortunate marriage.

C. P. Goree and George Westmoreland represented the executors of the will, while L. Z. Rosser and Alex King appeared for the fliers of the caveat. They are Mrs. Barbara Dibble, Mrs. Fannie Ackerman, Oscar C. Thomas, George Malcolm and Henry E. Dibble. A fight in superior court is expected over the case.

A GOVERNOR WITH POISE.

The Constitution offers Governor Joseph M. Brown to the country as an antidote for Governor Coleman Livingston Blease, of South Carolina. The two men are executives of adjoining states, but proximity is about the only thing they have in common. Blease typifies the sinister elements in southern statesmanship; Brown, the more sturdy and, we believe, the representative. Governor Brown's action the other day with regard to applications for executive clemency is a pertinent illustration. Blease will go out of office with the sobriquet of the "pardoning governor," probably having to his credit a more dangerous misuse of the pardoning power than any executive of South Carolina since reconstruction. Governor Brown is going out of office with a reputation for thorough and consistent clemency, but clemency never tainted with maudlinism or subverted to the manufacture of personal political capital.

As the terms of all governors approach completion they are swamped with pardon applications. That happened recently with Governor Brown. From misdemeanor convicts on up to lifetermers, they clamored for leniency. These applications had, of course, first gone through the mill of the prison commission, which sits also as a board of pardons. In some cases they had sent the applications on to the governor with favorable recommendations. Into each one of these applications the governor made exhaustive personal investigation. He waded through court records and other evidence. Only two cases out of the batch gained executive favor. Some were refused outright. Many were returned to the commission with a request for more complete information.

Many governors would gladly have shirked the labor and responsibility, accepted the recommendations of the prison board and issued pardons by wholesale. In declining that easy recourse, Governor Brown has done a service to law and order in Georgia. He has established a healthy precedent. Heaven knows society now works against a heavy enough handicap in its war against the criminal. Its burdens are too often increased by injudicious use of the pardoning power, abused in answer to hysterical or political appeals. The deterrent effect of the courts is too often lost by a breakdown in the office of executives. If governors of other states will develop the backbone shown by Governor Brown, the entire country will be the gainer.

THE "FRANKING" GRAFT.

We hope the people of this country will take seriously at least one feature of the lobby probe now proceeding in Washington, and that is the revelations of the extent to which the congressional franking privilege is abused. This evil is one of the flagrant scandals of national politics, and the fact that it lives on year after year an indictment of the intelligence and credulity of the American people.

Witnesses before the senate committee testify that propaganda for and against free sugar was circulated under congressional franks to the extent of about 1,500,000 documents. In some cases these documents represented speeches that were never delivered in congress, though the practice of slipping such matter free through the mails is an old trick. One of the parties testifying said that his side only had saved $28,000 by the free postal. What the entire sugar campaign cost the government, and that means the people of the United States, no one knows or can even guess.

These instances are, of course, a trifle exceptional, but may be repeated at any time. It is commonplace for congressmen to get "leave to print" in The Congressional Record speeches of their own that were never delivered in congress, and mail them forth free. There is at least the semblance of legitimacy to this practice, though even here abuse is often present. But it is also commonplace for congressmen to secure permission to include in The Record the utterances of outsiders, and then to solemnly circulate them by the millions of copies at the government expense. Matter of this sort and of a good many other varieties is indisputably partisan political propaganda. It should be paid for at regular postage rates. The postal expense account should not be burdened with it.

All parties are guilty of these practices, and none of them appear courageous enough to take initiative looking to a remedy. If the franking privilege were confined to its legitimate dimensions there would be saved to this government hundreds of thousands of dollars a year. With the free seed folly except, the franking graft is about the cheapest and least defensible tolerated by the people.

A FAKE'S EVIL CROP.

The earnest and tremendously popular Saturday Evening Post, of Philadelphia, is the latest victim of the Ollie Taylor sob story. The current edition editorially sympathizes with Georgia over the oppression of laws that can so ruthlessly penalize childhood as to give it an eleven-year sentence for the theft of a harmless bottle of sodawater.

The Constitution has reiterated the facts in this case so often that we hesitate to again inflict them on our readers. Suffice it to say that Ollie was not given an eleven-year but an indeterminate sentence. The very day his record gives promise of reformation he becomes a free agent. The purloining of the sodawater was just one count in a series of acts all converging to indicate criminal tendencies. Placing the boy in the reformatory will in all probability prevent him from flowering into an incorrigible criminal and transform him into an honest citizen. Had he been left alone, he would, almost certainly in years to come, have grown into a menace and expense to society and a burden and misery to himself.

These facts have been known now for about five weeks. Yet the original canard keeps marching on in ever-widening circles. It is impossible to estimate the harm it has done to Georgia. Sledgehammer confirmation of the maxim that a "lie travels a mile while the truth is putting on its boots!" It is also an eloquent illustration of one of the greatest weaknesses in American journalism, the tendency to indulge in oracular criticism upon insufficient facts or illy-established evidence.

Offenses of this nature, inadvertent though they be, redound on papers and periodicals even more injuriously than the sections thus impetuously indicted. Georgians, for instance, will hereafter pause perceptibly before warming up to campaigns in other directions launched by these various journals. For, if they have been so slipshod in arming themselves with facts in the Taylor case, and if demonstration of that carelessness is so obvious to those of us who live in Georgia, hoy shall we credit their moves toward other reforms?

ABOUT THE DICTAGRAPH.

While the convention of police chiefs in the city of Washington was stamping the dictagraph with its indorsement, political gossip in Atlanta was running to the effect that the forthcoming Georgia legislature might place legal restrictions around the use of that insidious instrument. The latter gossip is based on the fact that unless use of the dictagraph is hedged with intelligent restrictions, the device could easily be used to blast innocent reputations.

That fear is justified. As The Constitution stated the other day, the stenographer is the heart, brain and conscience of the dictagraph. If he chooses or can be led to pervert himself as to the utterances the machine brings to him, the most upright character can be torn down. Or if the accurate and truthful records he makes are tampered with by dishonest persons, the same end is attained.

It is, however, no special cause for comment that it should be found necessary to surround the dictagraph with safeguards. It is probable, as a matter of fact, that investigation will disclose that there is already enough law to punish improper use of the invention if only it is invoked.

There is hope: Mr. Bryan's Commoner has lost three editors, but there are hundreds of officeseekers who believe that they can run a newspaper and the country at the same time.

Occasionally some despairing place-hunter lets the public know he still lives by the statement that he is out of politics till next time.

They don't call him "The Terrible Turk" now, with his legs dangling from the edge of the man feeling for a foothold.

Now, if the senate should complain: "How can I settle the tariff when I have to investigate myself?"

Man ought to be able to drown his troubles in grape juice. They can't float in that thin element.

So many serve their country best by staying out of office.

Seems that lobbyists can't get quite close enough for congress to talk them to death.

JUST from GEORGIA

Till They Bring the Tariff Down.

I.

It's hard to keep 'em at it when the fish are bitin' free
And chautauqua flags are flyin' from the mountains to the sea;
When hills and vales invite 'em from the sweltrer of the town,
But they've got to keep the floor there till they bring the tariff down.

II.

No doubt they're mighty hungry for a summer holiday—
Want to glimpse the green fields, hear what the wild waves say;
Cool summer winds are calling, and rest is labor's crown,
But they've got to keep the floor there till they bring the tariff down.

III.

The hot air burns the capitol, and to the noisy halls
There comes the song of rivers, and far-off waterfalls;
But the man who moves that they adjourn will win the people's frown:
They're signed up for the summer—till they bring the tariff down.

Log Cabin Sayings.

The cities are talking in the country. That's where they'll get even with the high cost of living.

Good roads are necessary, but they've banished the dear old sandy lanes where we used to pick the overhanging plums on the way to campmeeting.

The real statesman never forgets his raising, but returns to the country of the cabins whenever he has a holiday from speechmaking.

The ox cart is too slow for this lightning age, but when we can't afford a limousine we call it "the oxomobile," and let it go at that.

Summer Says a Word.

I.

These weather chaps deserve not my caresses:
Just when I had my sweetest birds in tune
Cool flakes of frost fell on my golden tresses
And chilled the red lips of my daughter, June.

II

Even when the loving seaside nymphs had crowned her
Queen of the hills, and vales, and singing streams,
In a brief bathing suit a blizzard found her
And rimmed with icicles her rosy dreams.

III

Away with all rude prophets of wild weather!
No more—no more they'll linger at my side—
I'll win the world, and we shall walk together
To a rich realm of roses, red and wide.

Why He Declined.

"We wore our congressman," says a Bill-ville exhaler, "that if he really was in favor of getting back to the soil he was in such a hurry to leave we would never need him more than at the present time. we explained that we were short of field hands and that we'd love to plow and hoe him a while, but he replied: 'Nothing would give me greater joy; the pleasure would all be mine, but I've sworn to settle this tariff question before I shake the political dust from my shoes.' Plowing a Georgia mule is my hobby; chopping cotton my delight; but I can serve you better right where I am. I send you sixteen copies of the Congressional Record containing as many speeches of mine. The good Lord prosper you in your noble work to feed the country.'"

The Riddle-Readers.

Life's still the riddle
You bless your time and chance.
But it's "Hang up the fiddle"
Just when you learn to dance!
But "Hitch your wagon to a star."
And where the unknown spaces are
Let steeds of fire bear you far!

Frank L. Stanton

It is the time of year when old man Diaz announces that as soon as Mexico is at peace he will return and shake hands all round.

The Baltimore American says "there is a proposition to kill off the pessimist." But the optimist doesn't believe there's any such person.

Marse Henry says he never drinks mint juleps. Some one will be calling him a rare old, aristocratic, Bourbon-straight.

The whole country votes for a sane Fourth, and the fire's out for the cannon-cracker true.

The frosted mint beds of June only gave the julep an additional dash and sparkle.

Brother Bryan's Sunday school tracts have doubtless been the means of converting the "devil" of The Commoner office.

Still, the office-seeker who prays: "Just anything, Lord," doesn't like to run a farm on the side to support a little old postoffice.

A Story of the Moment

By WALT MASON,
The Famous Prose Poet

VEXATION OF SPIRIT.

"I have a secret sorrow today," remarked the retired merchant. "Our hired girl has handed in her resignation and requests that it take effect at once. She is a good girl. When she came to our house a year ago she was green as grass and didn't know a skillet from a sausage stuffer, but my wife saw she was intelligent and showed her how to do things. She never had to be shown twice. She remembered everything, and developed into a fine domestic. And now, just when she's thoroughly useful, she's going to get married.

"That's always the way with the dog-gone girls," said the hotelkeeper. "You take them in and wear out the best years of your life showing them how to do things, and just when you need them most they are going to be married or divorced or something, and they don't care a picayune how much their going disorganizes everything. I've trained up about a million girls in my time, and they always gave me a raw deal sooner or later.

"A man doesn't realize what cheap sports girls are until he goes into the hotel business. I always have twenty or thirty damsels in my employ, and although I treat them as though I was their adopted parent, and try in every way to make their lives one round of pleasure, they are always looking for a chance to take a fall out of me. If my gray hairs are brought in sorrow to the grave one of these days, you can write a piece for the Weekly Palladium saying that girls did it.

"Trade is slack now, and nobody comes to the hotel but a few traveling men and an occasional reformer. The girls have nothing to do but loaf around and tell stories and look in their little hand mirrors to see that their peroxide rinsings are properly adjusted, and so they're satisfied with their jobs, and treat me cordially. But next week we are going to have a convention of shoemakers in this town, and there will be about forty thousand strangers to feed. Then the trouble will begin. Those girls will find that they absolutely can't stay an hour longer. They'll all have telegrams from dying aunts and grandmothers, and they'll have to take the first trains for their towns. If you drop in any day next week you'll see me crinkling and flapping around on my knees begging the dining room girls to stay until the rush is over, but it won't do a doggune bit of good. They'll all go away to receive the dying blessings of those fake grandmothers, and I'll have to chase around town trying to hire able bodied women who have sense enough to carry a bowl of soup from the kitchen without breaking the dish.

"Girls are ingrates, contrast them. They have no memory for kind treatment. The first time they have to hump around as though they were alive they consider themselves downtrodden and oppressed, and begin talking about the tyrant's iron heel.

"When you do get a good industrious level headed girl you can't keep her. Every time she steps into the street somebody comes up and proposes marriage to her, and she soon forgets her duty to her employer, and splices up with some ten cent aleck who will expect her to make the living while he plays checkers in the palace livery barn. Whenever I have a good girl around I feel worse than at other times. Whenever I see her coming toward me I expect her to say that she has concluded to marry the tall gent with the wart on his nose and for the wages coming to her. Every time I look at her I find myself saying, 'On the morrow she will leave me as my hopes have flown before.' Such suspense is hard on a man of my years, and I feel myself growing weaker and more feeble-minded every day.

"This girl question is going to cause a revolution sooner or later unless congress fixes things so that the landlord of a family hotel may marry as many women as he pleases. If all these girls here were my wives I could make them stand around and behave themselves, but as things are now I have no authority over them. Girls are cheap sports, as I remarked in the prologue, and here comes the fourth assistant housekeeper to hand in her resignation, or I'm a cross eyed billygoat."

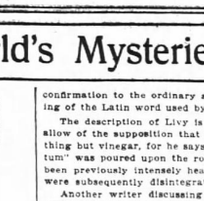
The Kaiser's Automobile..

(From Harper's Weekly.)

His imperial majesty, the Emperor William, now carries at night on any automobile in which he happens to ride an illuminated royal standard with the words Gott mit uns—"God with us." To the ordinary wayfarer, whether on foot or awheel, this announcement seems unwarrantably exclusive, if not preposterously selfish.

The World's Mysteries



MYSTERIES of ANTIQUITY

DID HANNIBAL SPLIT ROCKS WITH VINEGAR?

Readers generally are familiar with the story of Hannibal who, during his famous passage of the Alps, overcame many of his difficulties by hewing the rocks with heat and vinegar. This story seems to have originated with Livy, the historian, and it has called out no end of discussion as to its possibility. Certain writers on the subject have declared that it is absurd to suppose that the immense rocky obstacles encountered by the army could be removed by the dissolving powers of vinegar, or that in those ancient times, when the wonderful chemical discoveries of modern days were unknown, any other more powerful acids of disintegrating force sufficient for such a purpose could have been discovered, and the knowledge of them since been lost.

Various explanations have been made as to Livy's statement. The word used by the historian, is "aceto," which is translated into vinegar. A French enKineer, who had been for some time employed on road-works in the Alps, was the authority for the statement that the common implement used by workmen in those parts of the Alps to hew their way through rocks was called by them "an aceto," or pickaxe.

Was Livy misinformed, or was he mistaken in the meaning of the word, or have his translators caused the error? Plutarch, in his life of Hannibal, mentions the fact that vinegar was used to split the rocks, and makes no mention of the pickaxe. Was he also led into the error? On the other hand, when the modern Italian language retains the precise word "aceto," meaning "vinegar" to this day, it certainly gives some sort of confirmation to the ordinary accepted meaning of the Latin word used by Livy.

The description of Livy is too minute to allow of the supposition that he meant anything but vinegar, for he says that the "acetum" was poured upon the rocks, which had been previously intensely heated, and which were subsequently disintegrated.

Another writer discussing the subject says: "Certainly, it may be supposed that rocks heated with fire and moistened with vinegar would be split, though not on so large a scale as is here said to have been the case. And how, amidst frost and snow, during the fifteen days of the passage, could Hannibal have collected wood and vinegar enough for the purpose?

Another writer presents the unique idea that Livy, in his description, represents the use of wood and vinegar in an indirect way, and not as is generally supposed. He explains it by the act that the descent was made in Winter and, therefore, amongst these elevated regions of perpetual frost and snow, fires would be absolutely necessary for the comfort and safety of both men and animals, and that vinegar was invariably used by the Roman troops for the purpose of refreshment after fatigue, that the word fire and vinegar really brought the army into Lombardy. It is to be imagined, then, that the soldiers when asked by the astonished natives how they could possibly have managed to pass the mountains replied that it was fire and vinegar that supplied the means, and that was the origin of the story, a mere military jest, retained as something wonderful and miraculous, and adding to the prestige of the Carthaginian army.

In this connection an ancient historian relates that the town of Eleutherae was taken owing to its walls having been softened by vinegar, treacherously poured during the night without fire. But this story has been characterized by later writers as ridiculous.

In Pliny's "Natural History" there is a statement that might confirm the truth of the story by Livy. In one of the chapters he shows fire and vinegar to have been commonly used in the mines of Spain for the breaking of flints. "Vinegar," adds the naturalist, "is a complete subduer not only of meats, by promoting digestion, but of very many substances besides; when poured upon rocks it breaks those which an antecedent fire could not break."

The statement is interesting somewhere in this historical story of Hannibal's great passage of the Alps, but wherein it lies controversy has been unable to establish.

LAWN TENNIS.

By GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

(Copyright, 1913, by The Constitution.)

Lawn tennis, which is once more beginning to infest this country after a disappearance of many years, is a dainty game, in which two or four men, who are strong enough to spend their time in organizing a new trust, kill a bright afternoon by batting a harmless ball across a net.

The men do this with the aid of racquets and duck pants. A racquet is a wooden hoop with a handle on the end and strunk with gut. Duck pants are a corruption of the ordinary trousers, which are white for nineteen seconds after use. They serve to register the number of times their owner falls down on the soft green grass while trying to reach a ball eleven feet away.

Lawn tennis is a very foolish game, because at the end of a hard afternoon, the ball is just where it was in the beginning, and nothing has changed but the white duck pants. When a strong farmer, with barnacles on his neck and wrists, like the ankles of a Missouri mule watches a few city dudes chasing a fuzzy ball with enlarged fly swatters and shouting "love all," "love-fifteen" and other Mormonistic expressions, he cannot conceal his scorn and he never tries to.

Lawn tennis looks so easy that hundreds of total strangers take it up with the intention of driving the ball through some personal friend on the other side of the net. It looks as easy as politics does to the patriot who has the people behind him, but it is just as deceptive. It would be easy enough if a man only had to be in one place at a time. But the man who can't be on both sides of the court at the same instant, and who cannot pick the ball out of the clay with the tip of his racquet while traveling instantaneously from elsewhere and send it deftly to a particular spot where the other fellow ain't, has no business in this gentle little game. Many a strong man with noble biceps and a deadly right hand swing has gone into a game of lawn tennis with a wasp waisted collegian and has retired in a state of collapse two hours later, after having run 9 miles and eight furlongs for the ball without the slightest success in getting there on time.

One of Cuba's Heroines.

(From La Lucha.)

Paulina Pedroso, the aged mammy who did more toward the Cuban cause for liberty than many another brave one, died yesterday at her home at Corrales, from old age. Her death is widely mourned by those who in the days of Cuba's struggles for liberty had occasion to call upon her aid. She was like a mother to Jose Marti, whom she aided when he gathered the people of Key West to get them to support the cause of Cuba's Ten Years' War for Liberty. When Paulina Pedroso had a flourishing boarding house, and when Marti arrived in that city to continue his continent-wide propaganda in favor of war to free Cuba the great patriot found in Paulina Pedroso a fellow-worker who at the last moment, when funds were most necessary, gave all she had to aid the cause, continuing later to be the ministering angel to the Cuban exiles who were forced to leave their native land and live there.

After the war Paulina came to Havana, where she received little or no attention on the part of congress, although many of those whom she had aided took care of her and provided for her. President Palma having had her on his private donation list while he was in office.

Bibles Abroad.

(From The Manchester Union.)

It would be difficult to determine the extent to which the Bible is read here in America nowadays. It is certain that it is not quoted so frequently as it was a generation and more ago by public speakers or by individuals in private conversation, and there is not as a rule the same direct application of its texts to the affairs of everyday life. But the report of the American Bible society shows that copies of the Bible are distributed in rapidly increasing numbers in foreign lands, and the assumption is a fair one that the copies are read by those who are sufficiently interested to secure them. The Bible, or parts of it, has been translated into the language of not fewer than 460 peoples, and the circulation in book form has reached an output of 7,899,562 copies, made up of 926,846 unabridged Bibles, 1,266,919 New Testaments and 5,696,297 smaller parts. Ten new versions were added by the American Bible society last year. In Japan and India there was an increase over the year's distribution of more than 10 per cent. But it is in China that the agents of the society find their best field, and there, for every two English copies three Testaments or Bibles in the Chinese language were disposed of.

Hugo's Long Sentence.

(From The London Chronicle.)

For the longest sentence on record we must go to the French. In "Les Miserables" Victor Hugo has one sentence that runs through a hundred lines, and earlier in the book, in one of the chapters descriptive of Waterloo, there are over fifty lines without a full stop. England's record rests under official patronage, for it would appear to be the seventh section of the foreign enlistment act, which does not stop until it has very nearly reached the six hundredth word.

Standing in Trophy Contest.

Much interest is felt in the contest for the three team trophies. They are known as the Anderson, Candler and Paxon trophies, and are awarded to the three highest teams each year in the order named. The standing of the leading teams Friday evening was as follows, the scores given being out of a possible 1250:

First team of the Fifth infantry, 1012; first team of the Second infantry, 974; Second squadron of cavalry, 910; Third battalion of infantry, 877; second team of the Fifth infantry, 873; First infantry, 804.

As most of the shooting is over with, it is generally conceded that the first team of the Fifth infantry will carry off the highest trophy this year.

For National Shoot.

There has been very keen competition for the team to represent the state at the national annual shoot to be held by the United States government at the Camp Perry range near Cleveland, Ohio, in August. The standing of the thirty highest men with scores made out of a possible 600 Friday afternoon was as follows:

Captain W. P. Spratt, Atlanta, 476; First Sergeant O. J. Metcalf, Savannah, 475; Private E. E. Hale, Winder, 457; Corporal J. R. Cothran, Atlanta, 456; Private O. C. Bohannon, Atlanta, 369; First Lieutenant J. J. West, Albany, 367.

The shoot will close with this afternoon's contests.

TARIFF BILL SECTIONAL, SO NEWLANDS ASSERTS

Washington, June 13.—Senator Newlands told his democratic colleagues today that the tariff bill might mean ruin to industry by maintaining the Atlantic coast and middle western states on a protective basis while shifting the southwest and the west to a free trade basis.

He pointed to the action of the senate finance committee in placing many farm products on the free list, leaving, as he said, citrus fruits and the fruit products of California as almost the only far western products retained on the protective list. At the same time he added nearly four thousand articles competitive with the products of eastern factories were put upon dutiable list.

The senator insisted he was for democratic harmony and explained that his "warmth of expression" in a recent speech had not been directed at the administration but was prompted by the unjustifiable contention of Senator James, of Kentucky, on the sugar tariff.

As to sugar, wool and citrus fruits, he contended for a gradual reduction of tariff and urged the authorization of a special commission consisting of the secretaries of war, interior and of agriculture to make an immediate report upon the subject and report to the senate.

SHIPPING TRUST FOUND BY CONGRESS PROBERS

Competition Between Coastwise Steamer Lines Eliminated.

Washington, June 13.—Competition between coastwise steamship lines has been largely eliminated and agreements exist between practically all the established steamship lines operating to and from American ports. These are the findings of the house ship trust investigating committee, announced today.

Chairman Alexander, of the house ship trust investigating committee, making public the first three volumes of the committee's proceedings today, declared they contained evidence that competition between coastwise lines had practically been eliminated and that all established lines from American ports were in "agreements."

"In the domestic trade," said Mr. Alexander, "agreements between steamship lines to regulate competition do not generally play a prominent a part as in the foreign trade. But numerous methods may be used to accomplish the same purpose and the committee is aware of at least thirty which have been, or are being, used to control competition between water carriers in the domestic trade.

"In the trade with foreign ports, the committee found at least seventy-six agreements, or understandings, whose purpose was to fix and maintain rates, regulate the traffic and in many instances, pool the business. These agreements govern nearly all the regular lines plying in various branches of the American foreign trade to Europe, Africa, South America and the Mediterranean ports.

"Practically all the lines serving both the Atlantic and Pacific seaboards of the United States are members of conferences which work in co-operation through written agreements, or oral understandings."

DRASTIC AMENDMENT FOR ANTI-TRUST LAW

Washington, June 13.—Senator La Follette today introduced a bill to amend the Sherman anti-trust law so as to provide that when any person, firm or corporation is held guilty of restraining trade, the burden of the proof to establish the reasonableness of such restraint should be upon the defendant.

Any concern controlling more than 20 per cent of the business in the United States in any commodity would be barred from claiming reasonable restraint.

The bill also would define as conclusively unreasonable restraint, which restrains the purchase of any article from any other person or restricts the use of any given article; any discrimination based upon quantity of a commodity purchased or upon an aggregate price, curtailing or limiting distribution of an article in any given territory, or agreement to withhold any commodity from sale in any given locality; underselling to prevent competition and maintaining unreasonable prices on raw materials to prevent competition. The measure would prohibit the sale of any patents to illegally restrain trade.

FURTHER PROBE ASKED OF THE "MONEY TRUST"

Washington, June 13.—Chairman Henry, of the house rules committee, today introduced a bill amending the national banking laws to vest congress or either house with visitorial powers over banking associations.

In the statement he contended that further investigation of the "money trust" should be immediately pressed and declared that the "Wall street money trust" is spending its profits to propagandize throughout the country for currency legislation, so that they may get the right to control the currency and take that function away from the government."

BONDS ARE ARRANGED FOR UNION OFFICIALS

Charleston, W. Va., June 13.—Arrangements were made here today for the release under $1,000 bond of the indicted officials of the United Mine Workers of America. The arrangement was under an agreement by the court, and United States Attorney Ritz and the attorneys for the nineteen members and officials of the organization.

This fight will center about the charge in the indictment that the accused, as members of the United Mine Workers, "corruptly and feloniously engaged in a conspiracy and combination in restraint of trade and commerce, for the purpose of ruining the coal industry of West Virginia."

Senate Receives Muller.

Washington, June 13.—The United States senate honored Dr. Lauro Muller, Brazilian minister of foreign affairs, today by recessing to receive him when he visited the capitol. Escorted by Senator O'Gorman, Dr. Muller was presented first to Vice President Marshall and then stood by the speaker's rostrum and was introduced to the senators as they passed by. A trip to Annapolis, the visit to the capitol, a tea by Henry White, former ambassador to France, and a dinner by Secretary Garrison constituted the round of entertainment for the Brazilian party today.

JUDGE GARY QUIZZED ABOUT TENNESSEE IRON

New York, June 13.—"If the United States Steel corporation paid $35,000,000 for the Tennessee Coal and Iron company and $14,000,000 more to put it on its feet, not because it wanted the property, but to save the firm of Moore & Schley and other banking concerns holding Tennessee Coal and Iron stock from the panic of 1907, wouldn't it have been better for the corporation to loan Moore & Schley $10,000,000 or $15,000,000 or give it to them outright?" This in substance was the question Jacob M. Dickinson, attorney for the government in the dissolution suit against the corporation asked its chairman, Judge Elbert H. Gary, today.

Judge Gary had testified that the money spent on the company's acquisition and rehabilitation could have brought far greater profits if put into other channels.

"I will say 'no,'" was Judge Gary's answer. "I believe we did the best and most prudent thing under the circumstances."

Judge Gary expressed surprise when the government put into evidence articles published in steel trade journals as late as September, 1909. Reports of meetings of various steel associations at which it was stated that prices were agreed upon. It was contended that "it was voted to investigate members charged with price cutting."

Judge Gary said he never had read the articles referred to. "I am surprised to learn," he said, "that such meetings were held as late as that. I am surprised the government didn't take notice of them."

"Well, it takes the government a long time to get started, but like the mills of the gods when they do grind, they grind exceedingly fine," remarked Judge Dickinson.

"And, sometimes, both the just and the unjust," replied the witness.

STRIKE WAS URGED TO CRUSH COMPETITOR

Boston, June 13.—Charles H. Wilson, general manager of the United Shoe Machinery company, suggested a strike among employees of a competing company, offering to back them, declared Frank Morrison, witness today in the federal dissolution proceedings. Morrison, an East Weymouth shoe worker, said Wilson suggested to him forming a union of the Thomas G. Plant company's employees, promising to pay expenses of organization and offering the witness $5,000.

It was announced this afternoon that practically all of the government's verbal testimony was in, and court adjourned until June 25.

FREE THOUGHT EDITOR ATTACKED GOV. BLEASE

Raleigh, N. C., June 12.—W. O. Saunders, free thought editor of The Dawn Hour of Elizabeth City, today had transferred from Raleigh to Elizabeth City, his home, the case brought against him this week growing out of an editorial on Governor Cole Blease, of South Carolina.

GERMANY CELEBRATES 25 YEARS OF WILLIAM

Berlin, June 13.—The festivities in connection with the completion next Sunday of the twenty-fifth year of the reign of Emperor William opened this afternoon with a review of the Imperial Automobile club, the military Volunteer automobile corps and other automobile organizations on the "army chausees" in the western suburbs of Berlin.

Headed by Prince Henry of Prussia, commander of the corps, and the Duke of Ratibor, president of the automobile clubs, hundreds of decorated motor cars were reviewed by his majesty. The Duke of Ratibor then presented the first of the innumerable addresses which the emperor is to receive on his jubilee.

Joseph C. Grews and Willing Spencer, secretaries of the American embassy, drove their own cars past the reviewing stand.

The emperor and empress afterward proceeded to the stadium erected for the next Olympic games to witness a jubilee equestrian tourney.

Seven thousand school children gathered in the Lustgarten this morning and rehearsed the songs with which they will wake their majesties on Monday morning.

The city of Berlin has appropriated $25,000 for the decoration of the streets. Of this sum $15,000 is to be spent on Unter den Linden, which already has taken on a very gay appearance.

On Sunday, the day of the real silver jubilee anniversary, very few celebrations will occur, as it marks the 99th day of the mourning for the death of the emperor's father, Frederick III.

SLATER WILL PROPOSE NEW ELECTION LAW

There will be a new election law proposed in the Georgia house of representatives this year, W. F. Slater, of Bryan county, has announced that he is working on such a law, which he believes "corrupting and felonious practices, including primaries, against fraud and the corrupt use of money, than they have ever been before."

While Georgia has a measure of the Australian ballot system now, in that private booths are provided in which voters may mark their ballots, Mr. Slater expects to go much further than the present system, and make it impossible for anyone outside to know certain how a man votes. He will follow the principles of the Australian ballot, but give them a much stricter application than they have yet had in Georgia.

RESTRICTIONS PLACED ON CANADIAN PAPER

Senate Democrats Incorporate 1911 Reciprocity Act in the Underwood Bill.

Washington, June 13.—Amending the section of the Underwood tariff bill which would place on the free list all print paper valued at not more than 2½ cents a pound, the majority members of the senate finance committee today voted to incorporate in the bill the provisions of the Canadian reciprocity act passed in 1911.

This action would extend the free list to include all print paper valued at not more than four cents a pound on the condition "that no export duty, export license fee or other export charge of any kind whatsoever, or any prohibition or restriction in any way of the exportation thereof shall be imposed upon such paper, board, or wood pulp, or the wood pulp used in the manufacture of such paper or board."

Although the word "Canada" is omitted from the amendment, adopted by the committee, it would operate against Canada because of that nation's restrictions on exports of wood and chemicalp ulp. Senator Simmons, chairman of the finance committee, said that other proposed restrictive provisions or countervailing duties aimed against Canada had not yet been acted upon by the majority and that the matter would be taken up again tomorrow. He added that there is little recondideration of the action thus far taken.

Under the reciprocity amendment, pulp wood or paper could come in free from Canada, but when it is the product of free lands in Canada, lands unrestricted by export duty or license fee.

Senator Simmons stated he believed the committee could conclude its work by next Wednesday, and that the democratic caucus could then be called to meet immediately. It was his opinion that the caucus would not be delayed because of the absence of democratic senators in West Virginia, as they could be called here to participate in the deliberations if their work should not be completed by that time.

Senator Simmons said he believed the bill could be reported to the senate by June 25.

He did not anticipate that the caucus will be prolonged, or that the caucus will materially change the report of the finance committee, inasmuch as our work has been almost unanimous."

Administrative features of the bill, which have delayed the work of the committee thus far, the senator said, would be solved by the committee within a few days, as the subcommittee in charge of the feature would complete its work and report to the majority members tomorow. Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, he stated, had submitted many valuable suggestions, many of which would be accepted.

SUNDRY CIVIL MEASURE READY FOR PRESIDENT

Washington, June 13.—Only the approval of the president is now needed to make a law of the sundry civil appropriation bill which carries appropriations for many organizations and farmers associations from anti-trust prosecutions with funds provided by the measure. By a vote of 49 to 12 the senate today receded from its opposition to an item in the bill as it passed the house reducing the number of members of the board of managers of the National Soldiers' home from eleven to five.

The bill has been in conference since May 9. It was almost an exact duplicate of the measure vetoed by President Taft, because it contained the provision that none of the money appropriated for the enforcement of the Sherman anti-trust law should be used to prosecute labor organizations or farmers' associations.

Delay in acting on the measure has embarrassed various branches of the government service, many of the departmental bureaus being left entirely without funds. Only yesterday the department of commerce announced that inhabitants of Nome, Point Barrow, Alaska, were on the verge of famine because the bureau of fisheries was without money with which to dispatch a supply vessel due to be sent long ago.

TWO ICE MEN FIGHT $50 PEDDLERS' TAX

Seeking to prevent the collection by the county of a $50 peddler's tax on the ground that they are not in this class of costermongers, two ice men secured temporary injunctions yesterday morning against Andy P. Stewart, tax collector of Fulton county, to prevent his carrying out of a fi fa issued against them and selling their teams to pay the costs.

W. H. Carter and J. H. Crane were the men who took out the temporary injunctions, which will be given a hearing on June 21, before Judge John T. Pendleton of the motions division of the superior court.

In each of the bills the claim is stressed that they do not peddle ice from door to door, but have regular agreements by which they deliver certain quantities of ice each day to certain customers, some of whom they claim pay for it by the use of tickets, while others pay cash each day as they receive it.

The two injunctions which were granted temporarily by Judge Pendleton are identical in form and both were filed by Attorneys Maddox and Sims.

WOMAN REPUDIATES MURDER CONFESSION

Harrisonville, Mo., June 13.—Mrs. Ida May Kellar, who yesterday confessed in the presence of sheriff, county prosecutor and coroner, that she killed her husband, Arthur Kellar, and their 7-year-old daughter Margaret, Tuesday with an axe, today repudiated the confession, saying that a detective who investigated the murders "scared it out of her."

NO FIERCER BATTLE IN PHILIPPINE RECORD

General Pershing Tells of Moro Defeat—One American Officer Killed.

Washington, June 12.—"Probably no fiercer battle since American occupation," is the description by Brigadier General Pershing, of the battle with the Moros yesterday, in his report by cable today to the war department.

The Moros made desperate attempts to rush the American lines, but were finally beaten back and overwhelmed. Their leader, Amil, and several other noted outlaws, were reported killed, but the total loss of the Moros was not reported.

One American officer, Taylor A. Nicholas, of the Philippine court, was killed. First Lieutenant Edwin H. Rackley, Philippine scouts, was wounded, and three Philippine scouts of the Fifty-first company, all natives, were killed.

General Pershing's report was as follows:

"On June 12th the Moros' resistance at Bagsak was formidable and their fort and trenches on the precipitous side of the crater not only supported each other strongly, but were provided with modern arms. The Moros fanatically and continuously tried to rush the American lines, but the careful disposition of our forces held the American loss to a minimum. Probably there has been no fiercer battle since American occupation.

"Major George C. Shaw, of the Philippine scouts, commanded the right wing, with Company M, Eighth regiment, United States infantry, and Fortieth company Philippine scouts, Captain Taylor A. Nichols, of the Philippine scouts, commanded the left wing with the Fifty-first, Fifty-second and Twenty-ninth companies Philippine scouts. A mountain gun was with each wing and proved of great assistance. At the close of yesterday Captain Patrick Moylan, of the Philippine scouts, with two companies, was supporting the gun on Mount Bunga and the American force occupied a controlling position on the rim of the crater.

"First Lieutenant Edwin H. Rackley, Philippine scouts, was slightly wounded and three Moro scouts of the Fifty-first company were killed. Captain Taylor A. Nichols was killed in the early morning fight and it is a serious loss to the American army. Amil and several leading outlaws reported killed. Other chiefs are still unknown."

A cablegram from Major General Bell not only explains the reason for the attack up on the Moros' stronghold but assumes responsibility with General Pershing. General Bell said:

"The fight at Bagsak was incident to the disarmament policy of the governor general (Cameron Forbes) and the governor of the Moro province, adopted after many months of patient but fruitless negotiations and marked by promises disregarded by the Moros. A situation arose that I believe left no alternative. Amil and a relatively small following occupying one ward of the island of Jolo were the only Moros who refused to give up their arms peacefully. Disarmament was generally desired by the Moros themselves. All of the rest surrendered their arms months ago without resisting. Under the circumstances it was impossible and unjust to the disarmed Moros to permit a few of them to retain arms."

The Moros' last stand was on the island of Jolo, which is farther than the District of Columbia. Datto Amil was a brigand and pirate preying upon the peaceful element of his own people.

General Pershing's report was made before the end of the battle and General Bell has called for details of the conclusion.

INNOCENT MAN SERVES TWO YEARS IN PEN

Topeka, Kan., June 13.—George Horton, sent to the state penitentiary in 1910, charged with the robbery of a jewelry store in Meditine Lodge, Kan., has served nearly two years for a crime he did not commit, according to facts brought out today when Governor Hodges announced a permanent parole to Horton.

Horton's conviction was based mainly upon the fact that a blood hound directed suspicion to him. Horton's friends were able to present evidence to the governor that the stolen jewelry, valued at $280, was found hidden under a Medicine Lodge hotel and that it was placed there after Horton was sent to prison.

CABINET MINISTERS ABSOLVED FROM BLAME

London, June 13.—British cabinet ministers were today absolved by the parliamentary committee from all blame in connection with the scandals alleged to have surrounded the contracts between the British government and the Marconi wireless company.

The report of the committee which investigated the affair, was issued today. It declares that there is no foundation for any of the charges made against Attorney General Sir Rufus D. Isaacs, Chancellor of the Exchequer David Lloyd-George, or Postmaster General Herbert L. Samuel.

The committee finds that all the ministers concerned acted throughout in the sincere belief that there was nothing in their action which would conflict with their duty as ministers of the crown.

The report further says that "no evidence was given showing that any member of the British government exercised any influence to procure the contract for the English Marconi company, or in any way acted contrary to the public interest in behalf of that company, or used knowledge acquired in his official capacity for his private profit, or was in any wise concerned.

The foregoing extracts are from the company."

The report in conclusion strongly condemns the publication of charges which were "absolutely untrue and which those responsible for their circulation had no reason to believe true."

The foregoing extracts are fom the majority report.

The majority of the parliamentary committee was composed of liberal and radical members of parliament. It is understood that there will be minority reports but these have not yet been made public.

Unionist public opinion describes the committees report as "whitewash." The unionist press and public are showing great resentment against Sir Edward Carson and Frederick E. Smith, two of the unionist leaders, for having associated themselves with exoneration of the cabinet ministers by acting as counsel for Godfrey Isaacs, directing director of the Marconi company and a brother of Sir Rufus Isaacs in the recent, libel case against Cecil Chesterton.

COMMITTEE FAVORS SEGREGATION LAW

Would Stop Encroachment of Negroes on White Neighborhoods.

The Ashley ordinance, framed with a view to stopping negro encroachment in white neighborhods, and which is commonly known as the "segregation law," was adopted by the police committee of council, and will go before the general council with a favorable report Monday.

Councilman Charles L. Ashley, author of the ordinance, headed a delegation of indignant citizens of the fourth and eighth wards before the committee. In a vigorous speech favoring the passage of the law, Councilman Ashley reminded the committee that all the people were asking was relief similar to that given by the legislature of California to the people of that state to stem the tide of Japanese invasion.

Negro citizens who appeared before the committee to protest against the ordinance, based their arguments on the alleged unconstitutionality of the Baltimore law.

"I don't care if all the courts in the United States declare the law to be invalid I would still insist that council give the people of the fourth ward the relief they are asking for," Councilman Ashley replied. "The ordinance I have prepared has been declared by the city attorney to be constitutional. It is not as drastic as the Baltimore law, because it does not seek to prohibit negro occupancy of schools or churches."

According to advocates who appeared to urge the ordinance, there is danger of a clash between the whites and blacks unless something is done. Eugene Mitchell, former member of the school board, and now a resident of the eighth ward, told the police committee that he knew the feeling in the fourth ward to be intense against negro invaders. He said that the time is near when negroes will be invading the Ansley Park, Druid Hills, Boulevard and Brookwood sections. He said the Ashley ordinance provided the only immediate relief.

Instead of opposing the ordinance some of the so-called leaders of the negro race should be helping the whites to better the conditions," he said. "I know it to be a fact that Jackson Hill property has been ruined just by one negro buying a house there and forcing the whites out."

C. Green, a real estate dealer, said that whites in the fourth ward were frenzied because negroes have been forced to give up their homes because negroes bought next to them or in the same block. He made the rather startling declaration that he was afraid trouble and bloodshed will result.

Lee Smith, formerly of the fourth ward, told the committee that he was forced to abandon his home when negroes invaded his neighborhood. He said there were a number of instances brought to his attention within the past six months.

"The Ashley ordinance should be supported by every intelligent negro in Atlanta," he said. "It will not only better housing conditions, but will harmonize the races."

J. T. Rucker, an influential negro citizen, said that council could do more by adopting an ordinance to prohibit real estate dealers from selling property in white neighborhods to negroes.

Councilman Ashley is certain of the adoption of his ordinance in council Monday afternoon.

AT THE THEATERS.

"The Duke of Durham."

(At the Bijou.)

Probably the most interesting tabloid of the season so far is scheduled for next week in the engagement of "The Duke of Durham," which will be presented by a clever company, headed by Lou L. Shean, the German singing comedian, assisted by a company of some twenty people. The vaudeville features will include the American Four, a quartet, which is sure to make the biggest kind of a hit; Callahan and Klein in songs, dances and chatter, and Smith and Pollock, the Tango dancers. It is anticipated that "The Duke of Durham" will be quite in line with the best musical shows that have appeared so far at the Bijou.

"Quo Vadis" in Film.

(At the Grand.)

A heavy advance sale has been recorded for the coming of "Quo Vadis," the wonderful photo play drama, that will be the attraction all of the coming week at the Grand. This sensation is at present running to the limit of capacity at the Astor theater, in New York and at the McVicker's theater, in Chicago. It is conceded to be the last word in motion pictures. There are eight reels in the two and a quarter hours of entertainment offered every afternoon and evening during the week.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

There will be matinee and night performances at the Forsyth today, concluding the week at the busy theater, and the engagements of some of the very best vaudeville acts that have been assembled since the opening of the vaudeville season. For the coming week the headliner will be Bud Fisher, the famous cartoonist, in "The Mutt and Jeff Party," a novelty act with ten clever youngsters, will be another of the features and Pauline Welch, the singing comedienne, will add to the drawing power of the show.

M'HENRY IS REMOVED AS SISTER'S GUARDIAN

New York, June 13.—(Special.)—William S. McHenry, a wealthy resident of Rome, Ga., was removed today by Supreme Court Justice Giegerich as a committee of the person of his sister, Mrs. Mattie Bozeman, who is insane, on the ground that between 1900 and 1910 he got $700 to $1,500 a year from the woman's property for her maintenance while she was a pauper patient in the Georgia State sanitarium at Milledgeville.

The Equitable Trust company, committee of Mrs. Bozeman's property, charged that McHenry misapplied all the money he received for the benefit of his sister. Mrs. Bozeman's cousin, Mrs. Frances W. Ferguson, of 668 Riverside Drive, was appointed to take McHenry's place.

Mrs. Bozeman was the wife of Dr. Nathan G. Bozeman, now of Freeport, Long Island, when she was declared incompetent in 1895. He obtained a divorce in 1899. On McHenry's application to the Georgia courts, his sister was committed to the state asylum as a pauper, although the New York Trust company held $50,000 belonging to her and sent the income to her brother quarterly.

TUBERCULOSIS "CURES" ARE BEING INVESTIGATED

Washington, June 13.—Correspondence and published reports relating to various alleged cures for tuberculosis which have been under examination by the public health service, were transmitted to the senate today by Secretary McAdoo, in response to the resolution of Senator Bristow, asking for information as to all such remedies investigated by the government.

The reports contained no facts other than those already made public.

Surgeon General Blue said that the government's examination of the Friedmann vaccine was still in progress and that a complete report could be made later. He said the treatment of Drs. Karl and Sylvia Von Ruck, of Asheville, N. C., would be investigated as soon the public health service received funds carried by the new sundry civil appropriation bill.

WEST POINT TO VOTE ON COMMISSION RULE

West Point, Ga., June 13.—(Special.) On Tuesday afternoon, June 17, a mass meeting of the citizens of West Point will be held at the city council chamber at 3 o'clock to consider the proposed commission form of government for West Point.

A majority of tax-payers and voters have signed a petition in favor of the commission form of government and as many of them as possible are expected to attend this meeting.

And hobble skirt to "set the pace"

MAYOR TO APPROVE JUNE MONEY SHEET

Items Must Not Conflict With the Supreme Court Ruling Is Condition of Executive.

The June apportionment sheet with $280,000 in a lump sum to pay for the crematory will be approved by Mayor Woodward, Saturday, and will be in the hands of council for adoption Monday afternoon. Together with his announcement that he would approve the sheet, Mayor Woodward made the statement that his approval of the budget will be conditioned that there is nothing in any of the items to conflict with the decision of the supreme court.

Mayor Woodward emphatically denied Friday that he intentionally delayed the adoption of the sheet by holding it and taking advantage of the city code section which allows him four full days to pass on a council paper. He explained that the sheet did not reach him until 12:30 Wednesday morning, and he was too busy between that time and the hour council met to make a careful study of each of the items.

"There is nothing that some people wont do to make trouble," the mayor said. "I am going to send the sheet to council conditionally approved, and will study the copy of the sheet which I have in my possession. I don't propose to be put in contempt of court."

Mayor Woodward said Friday that there were some things in the crematory contract which did not meet with his approval, and intimated that he will insist that the city attorney make certain changes in the [illegible] company's proposal to bring it within the ruling of the supreme court.

Suicide Follows Failure.

Frankfort-on-the-Main, Germany, June 13.—The failure on June 11 of the banking firm of Plaut, Hess & Co., of this city, with liabilities of $237,000 and assets of only $20,000, caused one of the partners to attempt suicide today, while another surrendered to the police. The partners, it was alleged today, appropriated securities belonging to their customers to cover unsuccessful speculations.

MARRIED 21 YEARS, WIFE SEEKS DIVORCE

Declaring that through 21 years of married life she has endured the abuse and physical violence of her husband for the sake of their home and later for their three children until she can stand it no longer, Mrs. Daisy B. Bixby filed suit for divorce, alimony and the custody of her children yesterday in superior court.

Samuel E. Bixby, the husband against whom the bill is filed, is said by her to be an electrician at the federal prison and to be making at least $135 per month and to own certain valuable property in Atlanta.

Mrs. Bixby asserts that after a great deal of violence on his part she filed suit for divorce in 1906, but upon his acknowledgement of cruelty and promise to reform, she withdrew the suit in order that their three children might have a home.

Lulsa, aged 18; Mildred, aged 14, and Elizabeth, aged 11, are named as the children of the unhappy union and for the custody of whom the court to award their custody to her.

A hearing will come up on June 21 for temporary alimony and attorneys' fees. Mrs. Bixby is represented by Attorney Harvey Hatcher.

BODY OF G. C. ARNOLD INTERRED IN ELMHURST

Elberton, Ga., June 13.—(Special.)—The remains of G. C. Arnold were brought in today from Battle Creek, Mich., and interred in Elmhurst cemetery. It appears that Mr. Arnold was ascending a spiral stairway in the hotel central opening of the stairway three flights. It is supposed that he fainted in walking up a flight and fell. He was about 24 years old, the eldest son of W. T. Arnold, one of the largest and most prominent business men in this section.

The funeral was conducted by Dr. W. H. Rich, and was most largely attended. He was a member of Yaarab temple, of Atlanta, and the floral offerings by the local Shriners and others were beautiful. He was universally popular and a consistent member of the Baptist church. The verdict of the coroner's jury at Battle Creek was that he came to his death from an accidental fall.

SCHOOL CHILDREN PAY TOO MUCH FOR BOOKS

McCrory, of Schley, Will Urge Bill to Have State Print and Sell at Cost.

With the expiration of the five-year contract which the state board of education has with the school book publishers to furnish the books used in the public schools of the state at certain prices, there will undoubtedly be a bitter fight in the legislature this session over the question of school books.

There is a strong sentiment among patrons of the public schools that they are charged too much for books, and this feeling will undoubtedly find a vent in the general assembly in a war on the so-called book trust. Representative C. R. McCrory, of Schley county, has been making a special study of the question and he goes so far as to advocate that the state should go into the publishing business itself and have printed by competitive bids and sold at actual cost to the children of the state all books used in the common and high schools.

Would Have State Select and Sell.

Mr. McCrory cites the case of Ontario which has tried this system and he claims it would involve a saving of $600,000 a year to the parents of Georgia. In discussing the advantages to be derived from his measure recently, he said:

"I shall at the next session of the legislature introduce a bill for Georgia to have a text book commission whose duty it shall be to edit and have printed by competitive bids and to sell at actual cost to the children of Georgia all books used in the common and high schools of this state. Ontario, Canada, has had this system in operation for several years and the only thing they did was to have their minister of education for one year to quit making commencement speeches and to edit school books. What was the result? In one year he had edited and had printed by competitive bids the primer and first four readers.

Prices Here and in Ontario.

"Now, I have these books and they are superior to ours. Now, as to the cost, for each $100 spent in Atlanta for primers, you can buy the same number in Ontario for $16, only a difference of $84 on each $100 worth purchased. For each $100 spent in Atlanta for first readers, you can buy the same number of books in Ontario for $20, only a difference of $70. For each $100 spent for second readers, you can buy the same number of books in Ontario for $16, only a difference of $64. For each $100 spent for third readers you can buy the same number of books in Ontario for $46.67. For each $100 spent for fourth readers in Georgia you can buy in Ontario the same number of books for $45.60. For each $100 spent in Georgia for arithmetics, you can buy the same number of books in Ontario for $45.60.

"Now, why in the name of common justice to the poor people of Georgia can we not have as cheap school books as any people on earth? One big item in the book business gave as a reason that in the United States we paid a duty on paper and that it was free of duty in Ontario. The opposite of this proposition is true. We manufacture the best book paper in the world, and they pay a duty in Ontario. A member of the Canada Book company swore that paper cost 25 per cent more in Ontario than in the United States.

Pay $600,000 Too Much.

"Is there a combination in Georgia to strangle the hopes of the poor people in Georgia? I have already been put on notice that a nice lobby will be in Atlanta to oppose any change in the school book business. Georgia is paying over six hundred thousand dollars more than she should pay for school books and if I can get the help of a few of those connected with the purchasing of school books for Georgia children, the bill will pass."

Locusts in Nebraska.

Lincoln, Neb., June 13.—The 17-year locusts which made their appearance in the southern portion of the state early in the week are moving northward. They have collected in large numbers in orchards. No damage has been reported yet.

"Absent-Minded" Drayman Saves Americus Tigers And Is Sent to Prison

Americus, Ga., June 13.—(Special.)—The most absent-minded man in Americus today is Tommy Hart, a colored drayman who testified in court that he could not recall the name of any or several of the men to whom he had recently delivered one hundred barrels of blind tiger whiskey hauled from the Seaboard railway depot. The court was endeavoring to locate the consignee of the hundred barrels of whisky, but the trusted negro drayman refused to testify against them, pleading that he had entirely forgotten their names. Judge Littlejohn sent Hart to jail there to remain until his defective memory is refreshed.

DR. J. R. HARE EXPELLED BY DENTAL SOCIETY

Columbus, Ga., June 12.—(Special.)—Probably the feature of today's proceedings most interesting to the general public in the meeting of the Georgia State Dental society, holding its annual convention here, was the expulsion from the society of Dr. J. R. Hare, of Atlanta, on charges that he has, by advertising in the newspapers, violated the ethics of the society, which then stood as his discussion. Dr. William Crenshaw, of Atlanta, made a plea in behalf of Dr. Hare, asking the society to give him another chance, but when the vote was taken there was not one that opposed expulsion. It developed during the discussion that Dr. Hare had been arraigned before the society once before on this charge, and that upon his promise not to violate the ethics again the matter was dropped. It also developed that after that arraignment he wrote the president of the society that he thought he would withdraw from it.

Fifteen new members have been added to the society at this convention, three of whom are recent graduates—B. B. Todd, C. G. Williams and J. J. Gardner, all of Atlanta.

Tonight a large banquet was served at the Hotel Rankin. The closing session will be held tomorrow, when officers will be elected and a meeting place for the next convention will be selected.

SPHINX INITIATES PERFORMING STUNTS

Athens, Ga., June 13.—(Special.)—Three young men, Frank Carter, of Atlanta; Bentley Chappelle, of Columbus, and Ira Finkenstein, of Athens, with big white "S's" sewed on the backs of their coats, were today at noon, when the sun was hottest, seen down on their hands and knees, with their appetites literally trailing in the dust, pushing three eggs down the avenue with their noses for cues. The race was interesting, but slow, all the eggs broke—when they ran fast enough. Other equally as unique stunts the three will do till Sunday, when the "silent treatment" will be given by them to all their friends. They will call on all the young ladies they know and some they do not know and will, by directions, sit without speaking a word for hours; they will call unbidden at the homes of citizens Sunday and take dinner or tea—without opening their mouths save to nod their head therein—a penalty being attached to any word uttered on Sunday, the third day of the ceremony. The three are being initiated into the most distinguished club of Georgia—the Sphinx.

BILL WOULD REGULATE COUNTY SCHOOL BOARDS

Augusta, Ga., June 13.—(Special.)—Title in full of a bill to regulate the power of the county boards of education, by Walter A. Clark, to be introduced in the next session of the state legislature, to convene June 25, was given to the press yesterday. The title of the proposed bill is "A bill to be entitled an act to regulate and define the powers of the board of education of Richmond county to levy school taxes and for other purposes." The preparation of this bill has grown out of the considerable dissatisfaction expressed at the increasing rate of taxes levied by the board of education for school purposes.

UNIVERSITY MAY HAVE PHI BETA KAPPA FRAT.

Athens, Ga., June 13.—(Special.)—A chapter of the Phi Beta Kappa fraternity, the oldest Greek letter frat in the union, organized at William and Mary college in 1776 and now an honorary society only, will probably be instituted at the University of Georgia.

Dr. Stephenson, Dr. McPherson, Dr. Campbell, Professor Geissler and Professor Sayler, of the faculty, are all members and they will send a representative to the September convention in New York.

Augusta Schools Close.

Augusta, Ga., June 13.—(Special.)—Approximately 4,000 school children of Augusta will enter upon their three-months vacation today. Commencement exercises of the various public and private schools have been in progress during the week. The Richmond academy closed with the commencement exercises Wednesday night, the Tubman High school last night, the Schultz High school, of North Augusta, ended the year Wednesday night and the public schools of the city held their combined closing exercises tonight.

Missionary Society Convenes.

Jesup, Ga., June 13.—(Special.)—The Woman's Missionary society of the Waycross district convened here yesterday evening, for their annual conference. The conference is being held in the First Methodist church. Delegates from nearly every town in the Waycross district are in the city attending the convention. Addresses will be made by several prominent missionary leaders of the district, including some foreign missionaries. The conference will continue through the evening service Sunday.

To Camp at Augusta.

Augusta, Ga., June 13.—(Special.)—The Oglethorpe infantry, Capt. Thad C. Jewett commanding, the Clinch rifles, Capt. James Henderson commanding, and the Burke Light infantry will camp in Augusta during the coming month while engaged in rifle practice at the government rifle range just completed. These companies are of the national guards stationed in Richmond county.

POSTMASTER JACKSON GUILTY OF EMBEZZLING

Macon, Ga., June 13.—(Special.)—Henry S. Jackson, former postmaster at Williamson, was this afternoon found guilty by a jury in the United States district court of the charge of embezzling $800 of government funds, and was recommended to the mercy of the court. Judge Speer has not yet passed sentence.

A number of indictments were found today by the United States grand jury, including the following: Walter Founds, of Burke county, now serving a term for white slavery; for attempting to bribe Postmaster General Hitchcock, rural mail carrier of Twiggs county, for embezzling money entrusted to him for money orders; Thomas H. Mims, for sending a threatening letter to his mother, Mrs. J. T. Mims, at Ellko, telling her he would burn her house unless she remitted him $65 to Birmingham; Claud Walker, for robbing the postoffice at Cork; Benjamin Smith, for counterfeiting; Oscar Owens, for robbing a car of an interstate shipment at Barnesville.

The number of bills for "moonshining" were also returned.

Mercer Committee Meets.

Macon, Ga., June 13.—(Special.)—The executive committee of Mercer university held its first meeting here today, naming A. L. Adams, the only Macon member, chairman, and R. W. Garner, secretary. The other members of the committee are Hugh Willet, of Atlanta; Judge J. G. McCall, of Quitman, and E. B. Callaway, of Washington.

The committee, after completing the formal organization, elected L. D. Newton, a graduate of the class of 1913, as assistant instructor in English and keeper of buildings and grounds. Heretofore there has been no faculty member in charge of the property of the university.

Dr. C. C. Stroud, who recently resigned to accept the position as physical director at Louisiana State university, was re-elected physical director at Mercer. Professor Bellers, temporary president of Mercer, hopes that Dr. Stroud will reconsider and return to Mercer, and he had wired the action of the prudential committee.

The committee also made two appropriations this morning for $1,000 each. One for conducting a campaign for students during the summer and the other for repairing the dining hall recently damaged by fire.

No Interest Is Named.

Macon, Ga., June 13.—(Special.)—Judge Emory Speer, in the United States district court, this morning refused to appoint a receiver for the L. L. Carter company, of Odom, a $100,000 concern of which L. Carter, of Tifton, one of south Georgia's wealthiest men, is president. He also refused to renew a restraining order against Mr. Carter which would keep him from disposing of certain lands in his possession.

Judge Max Isaacs, representing certain alleged creditors of the Carter company, told Judge Speer, when the latter announced his decision, that he had not yet finished presenting his case.

"I have finished the case myself," said Judge Speer. "You will observe that I did not require the reading of the defendant's answer."

The Carter company was not called on to offer any testimony in its own behalf and Judge Speer stopped the hearing with the declaration that the poverty of the claims and the other facts as presented to him did not justify the appointment of a receiver.

"There is still an involuntary petition in bankruptcy pending against the company and as the company has demanded a jury trial this case will not be taken up until fall.

At the conclusion of the hearing today Attorney Lambdin, representing Mr. Carter, stated that the latter was ready to pay all claims against the company dollar for dollar whenever they were presented, but Judge Speer stated that was a matter which did not concern the court now.

PROFESSOR E. T. HOLMES WILL REMAIN AT GORDON

Barnesville, Ga., June 13.—(Special.) The nomination of Prof. E. T. Holmes, president of Gordon institute, as president of Mercer university, by Georgia Tech and the people of Atlanta who were brought in close touch with him at the recent commencement, is no surprise to the people of Barnesville. Mr. Holmes is a commanding figure, a polished Christian gentleman and makes a profound impression on those who meet him. However, Mr. Holmes will remain at the helm at Gordon. It was generally known by the school men of the state that Dr. Jameson would not remain at Mercer longer than this summer. When Mr. Holmes was conferring with the trustees of Gordon institute one year ago about his election to his present position it was known that he was then being considered as a possible successor to Dr. Jameson. Mr. Holmes assured the Gordon trustees that he would not lay down the work there should he be tendered the presidency of Mercer.

GEORGIA SENIOR WEDS.

Mr. Artie Small Marries Miss India Barnett.

Athens, Ga., June 13.—(Special.)—The first romance of the commencement season happened this afternoon when Miss India Barnett was quietly married to Mr. Artie Small, Jr., of Macon, a senior of the university, who yesterday finished his course and this morning donned the cap and gown of the class of 1913.

Yesterday afternoon Miss Barnett, a daughter of Captain and Mrs. J. W. Barnett, and popular with the younger set, gave an elaborate reception in honor of a visitor and a young bride of the last year, her younger sister, Mrs. Frank Edwards, of Toccoa.

The marriage, performed by Dr. E. L. Hill at the home on Milledgeville avenue this afternoon, was a complete surprise.

MAYOR CLEANS LANETT OF ALL BLIND TIGERS

West Point, Ga., June 13.—(Special.) Mayor Jennings, of Lanett, is determined to rid his town of whisky sellers as he finds them to such an extent that there is not much profit left when he is so fortunate as to catch them. On Monday three age-grading $500 for selling whisky and $90 for gambling were given the guilty ones, all of whom were black. Sheriff Daniel, of Macon county, assisted by a negro detective, Charles Robinson, brought about the convicting evidence.

Even the lowly worm will turn. The Lookouts turned and crushed the Crackers Friday, pasting Brady and Dent for fourteen hits.

Lookout Batters Have Field Day

EDITED BY Dick Jemison

WHIFFS

Worm Turns.

THE LOOKOUTS turned in all their might Friday, and, despite the fact that their manager was chased from the field, they walloped two Cracker hurlers for fourteen hits and eight runs, scoring their second win of the season from the Crackers. It was time they were winning, and they got enough hits out of their system Friday to win a half dozen games.

Encouraging.

THE ONE bright feature of the Crackers' play was the hitting of Harry Bailey. "Shawnee Bill" connected for three safe swats, breaking his big slump that he was in. If the slump is broken for good, we'll not begrudge the Lookouts their victory, as with Bailey back in his stride, the Crackers will win a lot more ball games than they will lose.

Making It Sure.

MIKE FINN evidently wants to make the winning of the Southern league pennant a certainty. He has just announced the signing of Carl Lundgren, former Cracker. He'll probably take Heinie Berger's place, as the Big Texan seems to be the only Gulf twirler that cannot be consistently depended upon.

Half of Games.

THE CRACKERS have won half of the games they have played away from home this season, sixteen being recorded on each side of the ledger. If they can get into their accustomed stride and maintain that clip on home stands, they'll make it extremely interesting for the Gulls before the race is over. On the present trip the Crackers have won three out of the five played. A victory over the big Pole today will make the trip a huge success. Go to it.

Most Exciting.

ATLANTA speed bugs will have their craving satisfied this afternoon at Primrose motordrome (weather always permitting). The first motorcycle race meet will be pulled off this afternoon, and to the uninitiated, those who attend will have more thrills in a couple of hours than they have ever witnessed.

Cool as Cucumber.

CONZELMAN is going to make the Crackers a good man. He is cool and calculating under fire and seems to pitch better the tighter the situations. That wonderful curve ball is deep and his splendid control is going to make him a mighty hard man to defeat all season.

In Making Cubs.

THE CUBS apparently got the better of the deal with the Pittsburg Pirates, when they traded Hofman for Leach. The diminutive outfielder, although a veteran with eighteen years' experience, is hitting at a .340 clip, fielding brilliantly and is making one of the most lead off men the Cubs ever possessed.

Boost Crackers.

BIRMINGHAM papers have a good word for practically every man of the Crackers' team after the series closed there recently. Wallie Smith, Harry Welchonce and Joe Agler came in for the lion's share of the praise. They also rooted Sommers. "He's a fine pitcher," says one, "but he is liberal to a fault."

Boosts Mackies.

GEORGE STOVALL, manager of the St. Louis Browns, is an Athletic booster. "In their present form," says Stovall, "they are easily the class of the two big leagues. They are prone to regard the injury to Waterbury as a serious blow to America's chances. A victory for America today will make a third game unnecessary.

May Catch Tartar.

JOE RIVERS may catch a tartar when he lines up against Champion Ritchie on Fourth of July. The fact that Ritchie cannot make the 133 pounds weight is considered by some of Rivers' friends as an admission on Ritchie's part that he is afraid of the Mexican, but followers of boxing do not believe that this is the case. They say that Rivers will be very much surprised when he gets in action against the champion. He will meet a stronger man than he is giving him credit for being.

Home Monday.

THE CRACKERS will be back on their home lot again Monday for a week's stay before hitting the road on a long hike around the circuit. The Nashville Allies and the Birmingham Barons will be the opponents of the locals.

Beall to White Sox.

Cincinnati, June 13.—The national baseball commission in a decision handed down today, approved the transfer of Player John W. Beall from the Cleveland American league club to the Milwaukee American association club to be null and void, owing to the neglect of the former club to ask for waivers on the player.

The Cleveland club is fined $25 for its failure to comply with the commission's rules, and the player is awarded to the Milcago American league club upon the payment of the waiver price. The Boston National league club also wanted the player.

The decision on the outcome of Beall's application to be declared a free agent, which was denied.

METROPOLITAN TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP TODAY

The metropolitan tennis championship, one of the classic classics of the season, will be staged, beginning today, on the courts of the West Side Tennis club at New York.

Brady and Dent Hammered To All Corners of the Field; Bailey Breaks His Slump

By W. G. Foster.

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 12.—(Special.)—Chattanooga batsmen made merry with both Brady and Dent today, and before the time for Atlanta's unusual "big inning," the locals were so far ahead that it would have required several full chapters to have changed the issue.

Sommers pitched great ball until the last three innings, when he began to weaken, but his team was so far ahead that they had all sorts of confidence, the three busy innings only netting the Crackers a single run against the locals' eight.

Bailey was the only Cracker who could solve Sommers, his quota being a double and two singles.

"Kid" Is Punished.

A wordy war between Elberfeld and Smith finally led to the ejection from the field of the Chattanooga manager. Elberfeld, standing near the plate, blazed away at the Atlanta manager, while Smith replied from under cover of the bench.

Rudderham called Elberfeld, and the Kid replied in part, the entire conversation doubtless being warm, but not audible to those who stand. Elberfeld remained angry when Rudderham called a close third strike against him for the third and boiled over, and he was shooed.

Matters looked squally for a moment, as Williams was playing first in place of Coyle, who has a smashed hand. Howell, a kid pitcher, held down first. Williams going to third until Coyle could hurry to the club house and put on his uniform.

The change didn't help the Crackers, as Williams played errorless ball and Coyle, who came on in the game, saved a run for Sommers by knocking down a hit off Bailey in the eighth, holding a three-sacker to a single and stopping Alpermann, who had doubled, at third.

Fast fielding helped Sommers in the first. Long opened on him with a hit, but Sommers nailed Tommy at second on Welchonce's bunt. Graff made a pretty stop of Alpermann's drive, retiring Welchonce. Then Bailey doubled to left, but Alpermann was held at third, and Smith popped out. From this inning until the seventh not a Cracker reached first.

Meanwhile, the locals were pounding Brady, and the fielding behind him was not sufficient to keep down the runs.

In the first, King's double, Flick's sacrifice and Williams' double scored a run.

In the second Johnson and Street punched out singles. Graff poled a hot one to right, which bounced over Bailey's shoulder for a home run, scoring three.

After Sommers lined out King tripled, Bailey's pretty work preventing a second home run. Agler made a nice play on Flick's crash, holding King at third and tagging Flick, after which Williams fanned.

Dent pitched the third. After two were down Johnson doubled and scored on Street's hit.

Though the locals were on in every inning, no more runs were scored until the sixth. Graff and Sommers beat two bunts in succession down the third base line in this inning. King sacrificed, and Flick sent two runs over with a single. Flick went to second on Williams' sacrifice, stole third and came in on Williams' long fly to Long.

Crackers Score.

The Crackers scored in the seventh. Bailey's single, his second of three hard hits, passed to Graff and Agler laid Dunn's bunt to short scored the run. Agler's speed, beating Williams' throw to Flick on the keystone, really won the game.

In the eighth Alpermann's double and Bailey's single, with two out, didn't produce a run on account of Coyle's stop.

In the ninth passes were issued to Agler and Dunn. Rohe went in to bat for Dent. He hit a low vicious liner to right, which Dunn thought would go safe, and Elston doubled the big catcher off first, ending the game.

NINE FAST RACES AT MOTORDROME

Official Opening Is Scheduled For This Afternoon at 4 O'Clock — Many Thrills Promised.

FACTS FOR SPEED FANS.

The Motordrome races will be held this afternoon. The place is the old show grounds. The time is 4 p. m. The prices are 25 and 50 cents.

Cars will leave at brief intervals from Five Points. Grand stand seats circle the track. The cheaper admission entitles the buyer of a ticket to a bench in the infield of the tracks. Part of the infield is reserved for the negroes. Tickets on sale at Turdin's and Shepherd's. Capacity of the plant: Reserved seats 12,000; infield, unlimited.

The thrills and sensations of board track motorcycle racing, the stirring spectacle of riders circling a quarter mile track, banked like the side of a house, at the rate of a mile in forty seconds, will be offered to Atlanta speed fans today.

Bottled up for more than a week by the wretched weather, the cork will be pulled from the Motordrome season this afternoon.

The races are ordinarily held at night, when the riders risk their necks under the glare of flaming electrics. But just this once the sport is to be pulled off in daylight. The weather promises to be delightful and the temperature ideal.

Nine races are set for decision. Nine times the riders, in bunches of threes and fours, will circle the track at lightning speed, grazing death every foot of the way. Three important races are set for decision, the Atlanta Speedway, the Motordrome Purse and a special match race. Good money is hung up for each event, and the riders certainly realize the money. Foolhardy and careless of death in their most circumspect moments, they will show bursts of daredevilry this afternoon that will make even the old timers gasp. For they have to win to eat. And food is no plentiful article among them now, owing to the long time since they have been in any races.

No word painter will ever be able to do justice to the sport which will be offered. Mere words will not picture to the mind a speed of ninety miles an hour. On a level track, endless, bumpless—on a track machine with tires perfect beyond the danger of puncture, a speed of ninety miles an hour is a handsome thing. Take this same speed and wrap it up in a four-lap track and the plot thickens. Bank this track almost vertical, in order to hold the riders on. Then combine the ninety-mile speed, the four-lap track and the vicious banking. Add to it three or four riders, all doing the same thing at the same time, and the limit in thrills is reached.

Every last plan has been made for the meet, every nail driven, every machine tuned up, every rider trained. There is nothing to it now but to fire the opening gun. And it goes this afternoon.

Three near accidents happened at the motordrome Friday afternoon, when three Atlanta riders were on the track at one time. And strange to relate the accidents all happened in the same inn.

Jumped from the machine and slip down going sixty miles an hour and was picked up at the bottom by the doctor's car, which was on hand but not developed. And will not be until a minute examination is made for internal injuries.

Harry Glenn and Houston Crane were speeding it up at about the same clip without any damage. Crane

Leo Peek, blew out a rear tire while the machine, but outside of picking up a few splinters he was not hurt any.

These are what is likely to happen in any of the races at the motordrome, the most thrilling sport in existence.

Yesterday was Friday the thirteenth and none of the professionals could be pulled on the track, the three local riders being the only ones who would tackle the hoodoo with the above result.

Savage Was Winning Easily When He and White Tumbled From Ring as Ropes Sagged

By Dick Jemison.

The scheduled ten-round bout in the Auditorium-Armory last night between Sailor White and Jim Savage was brought to a sudden end within two seconds of the beginning of the third round.

Rushing into a clinch following a rapid exchange of straight lefts, the two men backed to the ropes at the south side of the hall, and, locked, were they clinching, trying to break to an advantage, that the ropes would not stand the 400 pounds of beef and brawn.

The staples at one end of the ring came up out of the floor, the ropes sagged and the two men plunged headforemost off the stage, four feet to the floor below.

Savage struck first, landing on his head with such terrific force that it knocked him out as thoroughly as any opponent could possibly do.

White disentangled himself and climbed back into the ring, unhurt, as Savage's body broke most of his fall.

Unconscious Some Time.

But Savage lay with his eyes closed, breathing stertorously and his mind was several minutes before he was brought to, with the aid of smelling salts. He wabbled on his pins like a drunken man, walking up the stairs back into the ring.

Dr. Roughin made an examination, declared that Savage had wrenched the ligaments on the back of his head so badly that it would be suicide to allow him to attempt to resume the contest. He promptly declared it no contest and had it so announced.

Up until the time of the accident, Savage appeared to be winning easily. He had fathomed White's style and defense, ducking neatly or sidestepping those nay-making rights that have made the Sailor famous and jabbing straight with right and left alternately and quickly countering with the other hand.

The first two rounds were the "feeling out" kind, neither doing any damage and Savage showing pretty foot work, with White feinting prettily with his head.

Tide Changes.

But in the third the tide quickly turned. White began to miss the elusive Savage, while Jim, in better shape than when he fought Kubiak here, was commencing a campaign of jabbing and hooking that would surely have brought him the decision in the ring, of course, the possibility of White crossing one of his famous kayos.

The crowd seemed to appreciate the conditions and while there were a few murmuring voices, the majority were content with the show as presented, commended the management for refusing the bout to go any further and filed quietly out of the hall.

And the majority also seemed to think that the clever Savage would have won easily had the bout gone the entire distance.

The price of admission was obtained in the second bout of the evening, the scheduled ten-round bout between Spider Britt and Myer Pries, a grudge contest from the start.

Britt Stops Pries.

Britt stopped Pries in the seventh round, dropping him three times, until Referee Woodruff decided that Pries had had sufficient punishment.

Pries was badly hurt. With his reputation of quitting, the majority of the crowd thought it was just another case of cold feet, but Pries was badly hurt in this bout.

Pries rushed from his corner like a whirlwind at the start of the first round and forced Britt all over the ring, swinging like a man bent on winning by a single blow. But it gained him nothing, nor did his sarcastic grins "or his sticking out his tongue.

After he had spent himself, Britt stung him sharply on the point of the jaw. He slowed perceptibly and from that moment the tide turned.

Britt fought a fine bout, but he has ever staged here, showing an aptitude at infighting that was surprising. Evidently some one has been teaching him tricks. He looked better Friday night than in his local ring career. He has developed a kick in the left hand and a this brought home the bacon.

Pries Fades Away.

It was the right swings to the jaw, coupled with a short left hook to the stomach, especially the latter, that brought Pries' downfall. He crumbled before Britt's relentless attack like rook does before dynamite.

He tried to claim a foul on one occasion, but it got him nothing at all.

The first bout of the evening, a ten-round go between Mike Saul and Terry Nelson, went the entire route. Saul had a mile edge in the fifth round, Nelson had a good shade in the seventh and the others were so even that a draw decision was all that could be rendered.

Despite the sudden termination of the main bout, the evening was a pleasing one to all the boxing fans present. And had the main bout gone the entire, it, too, would have been a corker.

Even Money Is Wagered On Polo Match Today; Close Contest Expected

New York, June 13.—Despite the rather easy victory of the United States team in the opening game of the international polo series, a close contest is predicted in the second game with the English challengers at the Meadowbrook club field tomorrow afternoon.

Various factors contribute to this impression, including the loss of "Monte" Waterbury at No. 2 on the defending four. While Louis E. Stoddard, who has been playing steadily in his place, is rated but two goals below Waterbury in the polo association ranking it is thought that a breaking up of the "big four" combination play may result from the change in the line-up.

In order to use Stoddard to the best advantage it has been decided to move the New Haven player up to No. 1, shifting Barry English back to the position usually held by his brother, who is out of the series as a result of a broken finger.

A change in the English line-up also will mark the second game, for F. M. Freake, reservist, has been substituted for Captain Noel Edwards at No. 2 in the cup challengers' formation. This rearrangement is said to be due to the fact that Captain Edwards has been off form during the past week both in hitting and riding.

Freake is a veteran of international polo play.

It is the general impression that the invading line-up will be stronger than the pair of Englishmen who played here Tuesday. It is certain that the American team will be unable to "jump" the challengers as they did in the first game, as the English will bring out their best ponies for the opening period in preparation for just such tactics.

Betting on today's game was at even money tonight.

A total of about 30,000 can find seats for tomorrow's game, rows of bleachers have been soaring since the first match, and today many persons were offered $25 apiece for seats on the west stand, while $10 was bid for east stand seats.

Both the American and English players spent some time today playing tennis. The ponies that will take such an active part in tomorrow's game were only walked about for exercise.

Frederick C. Hild and C. M. Wood, aviators, were disqualified by the contest committee of the Aero Club of America today for flying over the field of the Meadowbrook club while the International polo game was in progress last Tuesday. The committee withdrew the license of Hild until January 1 next and the license of Wood until August 1.

Empire State League Lengthens Season And Then Splits It

Cordele, Ga., June 13.—(Special.)—At the meeting of the directors of the Empire State league held in Cordele this afternoon a motion was carried to extend the season by tacking on twelve additional games to the present schedule and divide the season with fifty-one games in each series.

The original schedule will be followed out as it stands. It was argued that a split of the season without the extension would practically give Valdosta, with its present lead, a cinch on winning the first series.

When the motion was made by Mr. Mitchell, of Americus, and seconded by Mr. Brewer, of Waycross, and put to a vote it resulted, the vote of Director Oscar Groover, of Thomasville, causing its adoption.

All of the cities in the league were represented by the following directors: F. L. Bartholomew, Cordele; Fred Brewer, Waycross; J. B. Jemison, Thomasville; W. N. Holcombe, Valdosta; L. J. Leavy, Jr., Brunswick.

President Groover expressed the opinion that to split the season would put new life in the tail-end clubs and placing them on an equal footing after the first series would keep interest alive.

Not only this, said Mr. Groover, but the post-series between two winning clubs, one game in each city in the league, would net them handsome proceeds.

Incidentally the president said that shortly the presidents and secretaries of several clubs would be called on to make affidavits relative to exceeding the salary limit, however, referring to no particular club.

It was reported that several new umpires were needed.

QUERIES ANSWERED

Under this the sporting editor will endeavor to answer all questions pertaining to all branches of sports.

Dick Jemison, Sporting Editor The Constitution: Who has walked the most men this season, Price or Musser?
A. R. K.
Musser has walked 66. Price 57.

Dick Jemison, Sporting Editor The Constitution: In a recent game between Capitol View and St. Phillips, it was agreed upon that the game should stop at 4 o'clock. Capitol View had the last at bats. The score was 3 to 4 in favor of Capitol View. St. Phillips tied the score in their half of the seventh. As Capitol View did not get her half of the seventh, ought not the score to go on even handed. If it was to be called without the full seven innings being played?
A. S.
Played assuredly so. If the matter was left to us for decision, we should certainly rule that Capitol View won the game. There is no other ruling any one could make. The agreement to call it at a certain time cannot take precedence over baseball rules, which specify that unless the home team is ahead, uneven innings shall set again. Capitol View should have been given her time at bat. If the umpires refused to do this, then they automatically gave the game to Capitol View, 9 to 4.

Dick Jemison, Sporting Editor The Constitution: Where does Atlanta play June 26, 27 and 28 inclusive? Certain parties claim that Atlanta is to play Birmingham those days on account of the Fourth of July coming on Friday.
Atlanta plays Birmingham June 26, 27 and 28 inclusive, as certain fans claim. Birmingham is over booked rules, which specify that unless the home team is ahead, uneven innings shall set again. Capitol View should have been given her time at bat. If the umpires refused to do this, then they automatically gave the game to Capitol View, 9 to 4.

GEORGIA VARSITY TACKLES ALUMNI

Athens, Ga., June 13.—(Special.)—Much interest is attached to the meeting of the 1912 Georgia baseball team and a team composed of former stars of university teams here Saturday.

This game will be the last appearance of the 1913 team and they will be pitched to their utmost to escape a defeat as the lineup of the stars includes some of the best baseball players that ever pulled on a clevis shoe in the south.

CANADIANS DEFEATED IN THE BOXING BOUTS

Cleveland, O., June 13.—The long disputed question of amateur boxing supremacy between the United States and Canada was settled here tonight at the Cleveland Athletic club when teams composed of American athletic union champions from both sides of the border clashed and the Americans won four out of five bouts, no decision being given in the sixth.

The Americans were Cleveland Athletic club boxers, winners of the Central A. A. U. championships and intercity matches with Buffalo, Pittsburg and Detroit. The Canadian team was picked from the winners of the recent American Athletic union tournament at Toronto.

In the locals half of the same inning triple and Nixon's double in the paths McManus lost control of the ball and forced in three runs by walking four consecutive batters. A feature of the game was a home run by Jackson over the right field fence, the first fair ball that has ever been lifted outside of Barrs Field.

Gibbons Stops Ahearn.

New York, June 13.—Mike Gibbons, of St. Paul, knocked out Young Ahearn, of Brooklyn, in the fourth round of a scheduled ten-round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight.

The fighting was fast throughout and up to the knockout it was an exhibition of clever boxing, with Gibbons the aggressor. Ahearn used a left jab with good effect, while at close quarters Gibbons favored a right jab to the body. A right to the head staggered Ahearn in the fourth. Gibbons followed up his advantage with a right to the jaw and a right uppercut, ending the battle. Gibbons' weight was 148 and Ahearn's 144½.

Tom Gibbons, brother of Mike, outpointed Jack Denning, of this city, in a ten-round bout, by a strong finish in the final round. Gibbons had a pound the better of Denning, who weighed 158.

COL. FELDER ASKS EARLY JURY PROBE

Requests Investigation of the Gentry Affidavit — A. S. Colyar Is Not in Atlanta Now.

Colonel Thomas B. Felder yesterday requested that the grand jury make an early investigation of the affidavit submitted by George Gentry, in which he declared that the dictagraph records were "doctored."

On Friday afternoon he forwarded a letter to L. H. Beck, foreman of the jury, in which he asked that body to look into the matter as early as possible. Offering to appear before the jury at any time, Colonel Felder assured Mr. Beck that he could place before the jury evidence which would not only substantiate the statement of the stenographer, but would throw new light on vice conditions in Atlanta.

Gentry Willing to Testify.

Colonel Felder also informed the jury foreman that at any moment he could bring George Gentry before that body to give his testimony. Gentry, he said, was ready and willing to come back to Atlanta. While Colonel Felder stated that he was in daily communication with Mr. Gentry, the detective department is not so fortunate. Chief Lanford having so far failed to locate the youth in Washington, where he is living under an assumed name, and working for a business house there.

Coincident with the proposed investigation of the dictagraph charges is the absence of A. S. Colyar, who could not be found Friday or last night. At the Williams house, where he lived while in the city, it was said to have left town with instructions to retain his room for future occupancy.

The reports of the hotel and that he did not know of the man's whereabouts or when he was expected to return. Colyar, he said, had not told of his destination upon leaving several days ago. It is reported that he has gone to Washington to locate Gentry, the stenographer, and further corroborate his sensational affidavit was correct. Another rumor is that he is in Charleston, S. C., at the home to which his wife returned several days previous to his departure.

Where Is Colyar?

Chief Lanford, with whom Colyar has been closely associated during the latter's sensational operations in Atlanta, said that he did not know where Colyar could be found, and whether or not he was in or out of the city. Others with whom Colyar has been connected say that they do not know of his whereabouts. He was seen in Atlanta as late as Saturday night. Efforts to find him in Washington have been to no avail.

"I will welcome an investigation by the grand jury or any other tribunal," Chief Lanford said, "and so will all the members of the detective department. We will all be completely exonerated when the charges are given complete airing. Such an investigation will serve only to act as a boomerang for its instigators.

"I am trying daily to find Gentry, so far he has eluded us. If we can find him I am confident the truth will be ascertained. In the first place, I doubt the genuineness of the affidavit as it purported to sign. In the second, if he did sign such a paper he was persuaded to do so by some unfair means. Let the investigation proceed. I am as anxious as anyone concerned for it to come."

ATLANTA IS INVADED BY JUNE NEWLYWEDS

Atlanta hotel men are preparing for an invasion of June newlyweds, which it is said will rival in numbers some of the conventions which have been entertained here.

Even the somber hotel register bears mute testimony to Atlanta's attractiveness. At the Georgian Terrace are three couples, almost direct arrivals from the minister. Little suspecting the eagle eye of the reporter, ever on the alert for a "story," this happy sextet believe themselves here in Atlanta unheralded and unannounced. Their many friends, however, will have a chance to send old shoes and rice and other presents to Mr. and Mrs. Q. S. Holiday, of Spartanburg, S. C., Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nesbit, of Cordele, and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hodgson, of Athens, all of whom are at the Georgian Terrace.

Three other June brides, all of whom were married on Wednesday, arrived on the same train Thursday. Two of these couples, Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Selman, of Rockmart, Ga., and Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Harding, of Douglasville, Ga., arriving at the Kimball at the same time, were assigned to adjoining rooms.

The other honeymooners, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hight, of Rome, were at the Piedmont for a day, making arrangements to return, after an eastern excursion, to spend the last few days of their wedding trip in Atlanta.

ATLANTA GIDEONS WILL DISTRIBUTE 1,000 BIBLES

The Atlanta camp of Gideons will distribute 1,000 Bibles in Atlanta's hotels this afternoon. The order, composed entirely of Christian traveling men, distributed the same number of Bibles last year, and this is a continuation of the work. By 6 o'clock tonight practically every room in every hotel in Atlanta will have a Bible on the dresser supplied by this order.

Twenty-three men with baskets and an auto will start on the work. At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon the truck load will drive up to the New Kimball and the rooms not supplied last year will be attended to. The other hotels which will be supplied are the Piedmont, the Southern, the Dakota, the Ansley, the Georgian Terrace, Brittain's and the Imperial.

On the fly leaf of each Bible is a printed slip of directions, placed there for any one who cares to take the volume up, but especially for the traveling men.

HILL STOPS ALL WORK BECAUSE OF DECISION

St. Paul, Minn., June 13.—Orders have been issued by James Hill stopping all work on the Great Northern railroad lines that is not absolutely necessary, according to an announcement made today at the general offices of the road. It was said the action was taken as a result of the recent supreme court decision in the Minnesota rate cases. It was intimated that the policy of retrenchments would be continued until the effect of the recent decision is known.

FIERCE FIGHTING IN THE PHILIPPINES

General Pershing's Forces and Moros Are Still Engaged. Moros Repulsed.

Manila, June 14.—Fierce fighting continues between the American forces under Brigadier General Pershing and the rebellious Moros at Bagsak.

The Moros still hold one fort. Their attempts to rush the American lines with bolos, which are made with fanatical gallantry are always repulsed with heavy losses. Today the Americans will attack in strength and their success seems certain.

The latest casualties are one scout killed and one man of the hospital corps wounded.

CABINET OF HUERTA RADICALLY CHANGED

Mondragon, Mainstay of Felix Diaz, Forced From War Ministry.

Mexico City, June 13.—A general shake-up in the cabinet of President Huerta occurred today. General Manuel Mondragon resigned as minister of war and was succeeded by General Aureliano Blanquet, former military commander and federal district governor. Vera Estanol relinquished the post of minister of public instruction, Manuel Garza Aldape, minister of agriculture, taking his place. Several other cabinet changes were also effected.

Dr. Aureliano Urrutia, head of the national school of medicine, has been appointed minister of the interior, a post long vacant.

General Mondragon was in charge of the Diaz forces during the recent ten-days battle, which culminated in the overthrow of President Madero. General Blanquet was in charge of the campaign in the state of Mexico during the last of Madero's term. His political affiliations were doubtful when he came to the capital until he effected the arrest of President Madero and Vice President Pino Suarez.

The reason given for the changes in the cabinet is that they are the result of an agreement, following the overthrow of Madero, that no compromise cabinet should be named upon the fixing of a date for the presidential election and that President Huerta was considered himself at liberty to reform his ministry.

President Huerta is currently reported to have been dissatisfied with General Mondragon's political activities which are alleged to have detracted from his usefulness as head of the war department. Mondragon is regarded as the chief mainstay of General Felix Diaz, in the presidential campaign.

General Garcia Cuellar, governor of the federal district, has been made military commander of the district. The cabinet is now made up as follows:

Foreign minister, Francisco de la Barra.

War minister, General Aureliano Blanquet.

Finance minister, Torobio Esquivel.

Minister of the interior, Dr. Aureliano Urrutia.

Minister of justice, Rodolfo Reyes.

Minister of public instruction, Manuel Garza Aldape.

Minister of communications, David de la Fuente.

Minister of fomento, Alberto Robles Gil.

WILL SMITH ANSWERS ATTACK OF SHERIFF

Replying to an article in an afternoon paper in which Sheriff Mangum, of Fulton county, was alleged to say of William M. Smith, attorney, for the negro Conley, held in the Phagan case, that Smith's statements are infamous lies, Attorney Smith has made caustic reply.

The controversy outgrew over the effort of the state and Mr. Smith to get the negro Conley away from the jail and in the police station until the trial of Leo M. Frank, on account of alleged threats made by certain outsiders, who had been allowed to approach him.

In answering Sheriff Mangum, Mr. Smith said in substance that if the sheriff desired, he would tell the general public through the press the conditions as he knows them in the jail, and will handle the question with gloves off.

Mr. Smith stated that the present condition in the jail is not to be due to the physical construction of the jail, which was too much for one turnkey to handle, and to the lack of funds for employing more attaches.

"If I lied anywhere," Mr. Smith said, "it was in an effort to exonerate Sheriff Mangum from any blame for conditions in the Fulton county jail."

Fair Play for Oysters.

(From Leslie's.)

Oysters! Lovers of the oysters as a succulent, delicious food should feel reassured. Sensational papers have done their best to ruin the appetite for the delicious bivalve. It is refreshing to find Dr. Wiley's successor at Washington, Dr. Alsberg, sounding an encouraging note. The Oyster Growers' association recently that the department of agriculture, under Secretary Houston, would begin a systematic, sanitary study of the entire question of oyster production, and this restore public confidence in an article of food that is cheap, healthful and abundant. Dr. Alsberg said there was more danger of typhoid fever from impure milk and water than from oysters. It is certainly refreshing to find the department of agriculture under the new administration engaged in the work of restoring confidence in our food supplies instead of following the bad example of Dr. Wiley in too many instances. Dr. Alsberg, Wiley's successor, seems to have the right idea of the sphere of usefulness of his bureau.

Rose Petals.

My Mind lets go a thousand things
Like dates of wars and deaths of kings,
And yet recalls the very hour—
'Twas noon by yoder village tower,
And on the last blue noon in May—
The wind came briskly up this way,
Crisping the brook beside the road;
Then, pausing here, set down its load
Of pine scents, and shook listlessly
Two petals from that wild rose tree.

While Facing Death in Mid-Air Birdmen Debate Plans to Escape

St. Louis, June 13.—Facing death Aviator Anthony Jannus and Arthur Isminger coolly debated in mid-air today which of the plans for escape chance would favor. They got into trouble when one of the tail rods on the machine worked loose while making a flight. Isminger caught the rod, intending to hold it until they could land. In his struggle with the rod his coat tail fell over the exhaust pipe and caught fire.

Meanwhile Jannus had been fighting to keep the machine in the air. While sparks flew from Isminger's clothes they debated whether it would be better to drop the tail rod or desert the steering levers for a moment. They decided the latter course was more prudent.

Jannus dropped the wheel, and while Isminger held tightly to the rod his burning coat was torn from his back. They landed safely at Alton, Ill. Isminger got a new coat.

After leaving Alton, Jannus decided to postpone the flight to Chicago until tomorrow, and made trial flights up and down the Mississippi river, going as far north as Grafton, Ill., at the mouth of the Illinois river.

PLOT TO ASSASSINATE VENEZUELA PRESIDENT

Many of the Plotters Have Been Arrested—Government Is Ready.

Willemstad, Curacao, June 13.—Details of the recent political disturbances in Venezuela, where a large number of prominent men were imprisoned or took to flight following accusations of conspiracy against the government, reached here today.

It is stated that a plot to assassinate President Juan Vicente Gomez was frustrated by the imprisonment of General Delgado Chalbaud and a number of his friends. The plot was to have been carried out at the inauguration of the Venezuelan Automobile club a few weeks ago.

An announcement of the government says:

"The plot was uncovered through General Manuel Corao, who flatly refused to join in the conspiracy. When invited to become a party to the plot he started toward Miraflores palace to inform the president of the danger. On his way he was shot at, but escaped injury. The information he gave to the president led to the imprisonment of the plotters."

In circles in which General Chalbaud is well known it is said there was no plot of any kind against Gomez. The president is declared to have imprisoned General Chalbaud because of jealousy and fear that he might become a candidate for the presidency next April.

In connection with the approaching campaign for the presidency there is much speculation in Caracas. Many believe that Gomez will try to succeed himself, although such action is contrary to the constitution. If this is impossible he will endeavor to secure the election of one of his personal friends. In either event it is considered certain that some trouble will follow.

Should disorder break out General Gomez has a great many things in his favor. The army is in splendid condition. The officers are loyal to him and there is plenty of money in the government treasury. Besides these advantages on the side of the administration, merchants in Venezuela who are at present enjoying great prosperity, are not inclined to support any movement which would interfere with their welfare.

The recent trouble between President Gomez and the federal council (composed of four of the best known military leaders of Venezuela) arose over an agreement with France which was rejected by the council, although subsequently approved by congress. President Gomez resented the opposition of the councillors and prevailed on congress to pass a law providing that the substitute of each councilor might be called upon to serve even during the presence in Caracas of the councillor himself. Several of the councillors, scenting danger to themselves in this move, took to flight and the remainder of them employed men to guard their residences.

CANADA BANQUETS NEW YORK BANKERS

Ottawa, Canada, June 12.—Notable because of many pronouncements by men prominent in banking and public life in Canada and the United States in behalf of universal peace with special emphasis on the coming centenary celebration among English-speaking peoples, was a banquet given by the Dominion government tonight in honor of the delegates attending the convention of the New York Bankers' association. The banquet held their opening session today, meeting outside the United States for the first time.

Friendship between Canada and the United States was pledged at the banquet tonight, and toasts were drunk to King George V., the Duke of Connaught, the governor general of Canada and President Woodrow Wilson.

Premier Borden read a reply from King George to the greetings sent him this morning by the bankers in convention. The premier said, in concluding his speech: "Let us believe that no questions, however difficult they may be, may provoke a quarrel between Canada and the United States. Let us hope it as long as the waters of the St. Lawrence flow we shall be at peace with each other.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

150 feet. The house contains twelve rooms, and is so arranged that two, three or four families may live in it apartment style.

The contents of a moving picture theater at 14 Central avenue were sold at auction yesterday by the T. B. Lumpkin Realty company for $2,525. A complete motion picture outfit was included in the contents.

Decatur will have its business importance greatly increased in the near future by the opening of a wholesale and retail department store by Mr. A. George.

Mr. George has purchased a lot adjoining the city hall on McDonough street in Decatur, and will erect a two-story building thereon. The first floor will be devoted to the retail trade and the upper floor to wholesale.

Mr. George has also purchased the lot on the corner of Atlanta avenue and Marshal street. A small grocery store occupies this location, and it will be continued by the new owner.

Ansley Park Annex Auction.

Twenty-five choice lots in Ansley Park Annex, one of Atlanta's beautiful residence sections, will be offered for sale at auction to the highest bidder Thursday, June 19, by E. P. Ansley.

Twenty-five people of Atlanta will have the opportunity to purchase a lot each, many of them facing on North Boulevard.

A large number of people have signified their intention of being on hand when the sale opens, and in all probability the twenty-five lots will be sold within a few minutes.

This property is regarded by many real estate men as the logical property to buy either as an investment or for a home. Property in that section is rapidly rising and it is predicted that it will be almost doubled within a few years.

This Is the Day THURSDAY

JUNE 19

25 Lots in Ansley Park Annex

Are Going

AT AUCTION

And this time history—real estate history—will repeat itself. Everybody knows what happened after every other auction of Ansley Park lots. Those who know say the same thing will happen again.

Thousands upon thousands of dollars were made for purchasers. Values have steadily climbed and are still climbing. This is the one section of residential Atlanta where doubt as to the future does not exist.

Ansley Park Annex has been developed in the same high-class manner which made Ansley Park famous. Every one of these 25 lots is high and overlooks Ansley Park. Many of them front on North Boulevard.

These lots are in a section within a mile or a mile and a half from three tracts which have been bought for development within the next few years by some of Atlanta's wealthiest men. It is the logical property. It has profits concealed in it.

Put the date down—Thursday, next Thursday, June 19. Remember the date as one which will increase your bank account if you attend the auction. Sidetrack every other engagement and go out. Twenty-five lots are going to make money for as many people. Be one of the twenty-five.

John F. Black & Co.

New York, June 13.—There was a very good undertone to the market today, in spite of the fact that it closed 1 to 4 points down. There was profit-taking bull bugs on the advance of about 8 points during the early trading, and a good deal of the buying all day was the covering of shorts. There are good buying orders from mills around the 11-cent level, and this is a supporting power. The fact that the spot situation has held up it has is beginning to wake the south a bit to the value of cotton and why not Liverpool is due to come about 2 points down.

HESTER'S WEEKLY COTTON STATEMENT

New Orleans, June 13.—Secretary Hester's weekly New Orleans cotton exchange statement, issued before the close of business today shows a decrease in the movement into sight compared with the seven days ending this date last year of 11,000 bales, 12,000, an increase over the same days year before last of 1,000 and a decrease under the same time in 1910 of 15,000.

COTTON THE PAST WEEK; REVIEW OF THE MARKET

New York, June 13.—The cotton market made new high ground, on active covering by both old and new crop shorts, during the past week. Heavy realizing was encountered as the market approached 13½ cents for early new crop deliveries, however, while there were also indications that the narrowing of the difference between New York and Liverpool was leading to considerable liquidation of the straddle long interest in July and prices at the close tonight showed moderate reactions from the best. There have been complaints of low night temperatures from the eastern belt and reports of damage from grasshoppers from south Texas, or of boll weevil in Mississippi and Louisiana, but otherwise crop advices have been generally favorable, and yesterday a prominent Memphis authority reported an improvement in average conditions of over 2 per cent since the end of last month.

The firmer tone of the market therefore, was not generally considered the result of any material change in the new crop outlook, but the strength of the old crop months, and an impression that European spinners have tied up a large number of local contracts against prospective requirements doubtless rendered the trade nervous over the possibility of less favorable crop advices should unseasonably low temperatures continue. Further shipments from the local stock have reduced the certificated supply here to less than 45,000 bales, thus increasing the uneasiness of the near month shorts, while bulls have had the encouragement of some optimistic views of the money market, reports of a more active demand upon the mills for good and a possibility that the Underwood bill would be amended somewhat to the advantage of domestic manufacturers. There was some selling yesterday, however, on reports of warmer weather in the belt and an idea that there had been a material reduction in the outstanding short interest.

TRADE REVIEWED BY COMMERCIAL AGENCIES

New York, June 13.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say that despite unseasonably cool weather and stock market uneasiness early, there are many favorable features developing thereafter this week. Warmer weather had succeeded the chilling temperatures early experienced, west-ern trade reports are of a rather more optimistic character, based mainly upon expectations of large, through rot record, yields of cereals and the advance northward of the winter wheat harvest.

Clearance sales of summer goods by jobbers, especially at New York, have been liberally patronized, the sharp rally in stocks, after reaching the lowest levels since 1909, shows that the market is no longer one-sided, and that but to a slight extent, the banks, encouraged apparently by treasury relief, have displayed a willingness to loosen up to legitimate commercial borrowers.

On the other hand, tariff uncertainties tend to cause trade for future account to operate under a pall, business in iron and steel is receding and shipments continue to make inroads on orders while there is said to be some reduction in consumption of pig iron, prices for which are very low, and premiums on finished goods for early delivery tend to pass.

Business failures for the week ending June 12 were 229, which compares with 266 in 1912.

Wheat, including flour, exports for the week ending June 12 aggregate 3,932,466 bushels, against 3,662,148 bushels last year.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, June 13.—The market has been quiet and steady, with no feature of special note. The highest prices were at the opening, about five points above the close, from which prices gradually receded, most markedly in July. Trading was local and small, greatly in contrast to the recent activity. The Bury report is favorable, but the market has apparently discounted it in advance.

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL OF THE MARKETS

COTTON PRICES OFF UNDER REALIZING

Market Opened Firm, But Old Longs Took Profits Freely. Spot Cotton Higher.

New York, June 13.—The cotton market was less active today, with prices easing off under realizing or selling for a reaction after the recent sharp advance. The close was steady at a net advance of 1 point on August, but generally 1 to 5 points lower.

The market opened firm at an advance of 6 to 10 points on the continued strength in Liverpool and renewed covering, which seemed to come largely from Wall street sources. The more optimistic view of the financial outlook probably encouraged some fresh buying in connection with reports of increased activity among domestic mills and an active textile trade in the west. The prices soon weakened.

There were some further complaints of low night temperatures from the eastern belt and reports of threatened insect damage in central and western belt sections. Otherwise crop advices were generally favorable, however, and indications for good weather over the week-end seemed to inspire some selling for a reaction.

Trading became comparatively quiet after the first hour and the market fluctuated within a point or two of last night's closing figures during the middle of the day, but there was a little flurry of selling in the afternoon, on reports that a prominent Memphis statistician made the average condition of the crop over 2 per cent better than when the government June condition figures were compiled.

Closing prices were at the lowest point of the day with June and July showing the maximum losses.

New Orleans and Liverpool houses were credited with selling rather freely here during the morning, while comparatively light offerings were sufficient to unsettle the market in the late trading, owing to the absence of any important support. It was rumored that about 1,000 bales of cotton were on the way here from the south for contract delivery, but it is also reported that 4,200 bales are to be shipped from here to Genoa next week.

Spot cotton quiet, 5 points up; middling uplands 12.35, do gulf 12.60, sales, none.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, June 13.—After a small initial advance today the price of cotton worked lower in the market had been influenced by reports of several preceding sessions this week, the short interest appeared to have been considerably liquidated and buyers apparently more disposed to try for profits than for a further rise.

Private cables from Liverpool to the effect that the more favorable turn taken by the weather in the Mississippi valley temperature were higher, next to no rain was reported, the forecast promised continued dry and somewhat warmer and crop reports from the south were that work was progressing fast in the fields and that the plant was doing well, were also influential factors at different periods during the session. Many of the more active traders here, however, were influenced by rumors and reports from south Texas were the first sale in the new crop year. Buyers would make no attempt to follow the market on the decline.

The opening was steady at an advance of 3 to 5 points on the active months, which were increased to 7 to 9 points, which was the top figure for the day, at which the market eased off to 9 to 10 points under the last quotations, the market finally rallying a little from the bottom to close steady at a net decline of 1 to 2 points for the day.

Spot cotton steady, unchanged middling, 12¾; sales on the spot and to arrive, 500; receipts, 9,116; stock, 301,000; net receipts, 11,716; gross receipts, 11,716; exports, coastwise, 1,000; sales, 1,000; consolidated, 11,716; consolidated net receipts, 12,716; exports, consolidated, 1,000; sales, 1,000; consolidated, 11,716; stock, consolidated, 1,301,000; weekly net receipts, 80,000; gross receipts, 80,000; exports, to France, 5,000; to the rest of the continent, 5,000; coastwise, 1,000; weekly stock, 1,301,000; compared with last year,

FIGHT IS BREWING ON MONEY REFORM

Henry Alleges Wall Street Is Backing Currency Legislation—The Administration Money Measure Is Ready.

Washington, June 13.—An undercurrent of opposition among a considerable number of house democrats to the plan for currency legislation at this session of congress took definite shape today, when Representative Henry, of Texas, chairman of the powerful rules committee, openly charged that Wall street was back of the propaganda for currency legislation.

While favoring revision of the banking and currency laws at the next session of congress, Mr. Henry insisted that further investigation of the so-called "money trust" should be immediately pressed. The Pujo committee, he declared, barely scratched the surface of the facts underlying the concentration of control of money and credit, because the controller of the currency refused access to his records, making it impossible for the investigators "to completely expose the existing relations between the Wall street bankers and their allies with the trusts and monopolies, stock gamblers, and financial conspirators."

"Wall street bankers," he added, "now are demanding legislation on the currency question in order that they may make a market for their commercial paper, much of it based on rotten securities, and have currency issued on their assets."

Mr. Henry introduced a bill to amend the banking laws, so as to make banking associations subject to the visitorial powers exercised or directed, by congress, or by either house of congress.

Administration Bill Ready.

While this was going on, it became known that the administration measure, representing the combined views of President Wilson, Secretary of the Navy McAdoo, Senator Owen, of Oklahoma, chairman of the senate banking and currency committee, and Representative Glass, chairman of the house banking and currency committee, would be introduced in the house next Tuesday, and that the full committee of the house probably would meet to take up the bill a day or two later. President Wilson is expected to send a message on the subject, probably Tuesday. Mr. Glass had a long conference today with Secretary McAdoo, going over the details of the bill.

"Jet is an imperative duty to pass currency legislation at this session of congress," said Mr. Glass tonight. "It seems singular to me that any well informed member of congress should imagine that the need is not urgent. If any such member will come to the banking and currency committee room and note the volume of correspondence on the subject with which the secretary has been deluged, and the tenor of the letters written, he will become easily convinced, not only that the bankers of the country favor legislation, but that business men of every description favor it, the latter even more urgent than the former."

Members of the house committee, while disposed to follow the party leadership, are not agreed upon the necessity of currency legislation now. They are in a waiting mood, and seeking light.

Henry Attacks Wall Street.

Mr. Henry, in his statement accompanying his bill, declared "the Wall street bankers, thinking the people confused and upset by tariff revision, have begun their old scheme of endeavoring to hurry through a plan giving them the right to issue, or have issued by the government, asset currency. The bankers and their allies want to make a market for their paper and securities and control the country's currency and cause the government to abdicate the function of issuing and controlling the currency.

"There is positively at present no need of an emergency currency bill, the Aldrich-Vreeland bill is on the statutes, and has a year to live. It certainly suffices for that length of time."

Charging that the only aim of the Wall street bankers was to pass the Aldrich bill, hurried over so as to fool the people," Mr. Henry said the voters would be "wise to wake up and prepare for the greatest struggle they ever fought with the New York banking fraternity, and the money trust."

"The Baltimore platform said nothing about currency legislation, except to repudiate and denounce the Aldrich currency bill," he said. "It did, however, demand a systematic revision of our banking laws so that we might have protection from control or dominance by what is known as the 'money trust.'

"I am ready now for the right kind of currency legislation, but never for the plan that turns over the currency business to the banks and corporations and strips the government of its sovereign power."

EX-COTTON KING SULLY IN CONTEMPT OF COURT

New York, June 13.—Daniel J. Sully, the "cotton king" of a decade ago, is in contempt of court. The appellate division of the supreme court upheld the lower court in so deciding today on Sully's appeal from the decision against him in a suit brought by William Harman Black, formerly his lawyer, to collect $4,000 for legal services. By paying $4,235, the Black judgment and interest, he may purge himself.

Sully incurred the supreme court's displeasure by transferring to his wife notwithstanding a restraining order, $4,000 received in payment of a debt.

telling me of pitched battles that had been fought."

He said his own life had been threatened at various times during the disturbances and speeches were made at several miners' meetings advocating him of "fiddling while Rome burned."

The miners requested the first declaration of martial law after I told them that a declaration of martial law was the only method by which I could eject the mine guards from the strike zone."

"I want to say that I believe that I never acted more conscientiously in my life than when I took charge of that district," said the former governor.

Attempts to question the governor as to the justification for the first declaration of martial law were stopped by the committee.

This committee will never pass upon the good faith of the governor in declaring martial law," said Senator Borah, and the line of questioning was halted.

Mine Guards Caused Trouble.

Senator Borah ascertained that the governor had declared that the "mine guards" in the strike district, most of them employees of a detective agency, were the main cause of trouble, and that one of the principal reasons for his declaring martial law in the first instance was his desire to rid the district of the mine guards. After the guards had been driven out he said the question of unionising the field became acute, and the trouble again broke out.

The governor was unequivocal in his defense of the actions of the military commission which tried prisoners in the strike zone.

"I considered that a state of war existed on Paint and Cabin creeks," he said, "and I considered that under the martial law regime the will of the commander-in-chief, myself, was supreme, in the affected territory. I regarded the proceedings by the military commission as strictly in accord with the law under the conditions which were apparent at the time."

The former governor explained that sentences imposed by the military commission which exceeded the penalties provided by the statutes were never intended to be carried out. He said he had an understanding with the commission that very heavy sentences were to be imposed, but that he was not to allow the prisoners to serve the full terms. The long sentences were planned "for the moral effect."

Determined to Have Peace.

"I was determined," said the governor, "to have peace and order restored. This was one of the means employed."

The attorneys for the miners ascertained from the former governor that he recommended some of the militia men, who, after the first declaration of martial law was raised, took positions as mine guards in the pay of the operators.

"Did you think these men in the pay of the operators were a competent police force to guard the interests of both operators and miners alike?" asked Attorney Belcher. The governor could not say.

Representative S. B. Avis, who was country prosecutor when the trouble began, testified that juries secured in the civil courts could not be depended upon to try cases arising out of strike because of the widespread prejudice and bias throughout the county. Where juries secured any more subject to this general prejudice than the military officers who made up the military commission," demanded Senator Borah.

"Probably not," replied Avis.

Avis said that throughout the strike troubles the criminal courts of the county with grand juries sitting were doing business without interference.

On these points County Prosecutor Townsend and Assistant Prosecutor F. C. Burdette corroborated the testimony of Mr. Avis as did Sheriff Smith.

Probe Near End.

Tonight Senator Kenyon's branch of the inquiry as to general conditions and causes leading up to the strike was all that remained to be disposed of in Charleston. The committee decided to leave the matter of alleged violations of immigration laws to be taken up in Washington.

The big question as to agreements and combinations "contrary to the laws of the United States," for the purpose of controlling the production of West Virginia coal, will not be taken up by the committee at this time, it was decided, owing to the fact that officials of the United Mine Workers have been indicted on this charge under the Sherman anti-trust law in the federal courts.

ENGINEER SOBS STORY OF THE FATAL WRECK

Stamford, Conn., June 13.—With an emphatic declaration that he had done all he could to avert the wreck, Engineer Charles J. Doherty, of New Haven, at the coroner's inquest today ended his dramatic story of how his train on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad crashed into the Pullman car Skylark last evening, dealing death to six persons and injury to many others. Then he broke down completely and sobbed aloud for several minutes.

He had detailed how, when his train failed to respond to the air brakes, he applied more air and then "let her have the whole thing." Then he threw on the emergency brake, applied sand to the rails and reversed his lever as far as he was able. He insisted that he had taken every possible precaution.

That he had not been running a passenger train regularly until three days before the accident, that he had been nervous because of the newness of the thing, but that the nervousness had worn off, were statements of Doherty.

Doherty's fireman, Barry Smith, corroborated his testimony, as did the conductor and baggage master, so far as their knowledge went.

Coroner Phelan turned from the examination of a witness to demand of Attorney Benjamin I. Spock, of the New Haven whether the railroad's order to burn the wrecked car, the "Skylark," immediately after the wreck was not irregular. Spock insisted, however, that this was a customary procedure when the wrecked coach is past repair and not responsible for the accident.

Engineer Doherty was arrested tonight, charged with manslaughter, upon a warrant issued by Assistant Prosecuting Attorney F. W. Huxford. Bail was fixed at $5,000, which was furnished by John Dillon, his brother-in-law.

At the Stamford hospital tonight it was reported that all the injured were resting comfortably.

"FAKE" ADS OPPOSED BY ADVERTISING CLUBS

Baltimore, June 13.—The ninth annual convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America finished its business today and adjourned to meet at Toronto next year. William Woodhead, of San Francisco, was elected president; Walter B. Cherry, of Syracuse, N. Y., vice president; P. S. Florea, of Indianapolis, secretary (re-election), and T. D. La Quatte, of Des Moines, Iowa, treasurer.

The executive committee will announce the date for next year's meeting later. The convention adopted unanimously "a declaration" submitted by the 30 committees of departmental representatives placing the association on record in opposition to all forms of untruthful advertising and recommending measures designed to correct evils wherever they occur.

A permanent committee, composed of the joint committee to deal in detail with the problems existing in the fields of advertising, is proposed.

Every advertising interest is urged to submit problems regarding questionable advertising to this commission and to the national vigilance committee.

The present methods of arriving at verification of circulation statements are described as not only confusing, but inadequate, and the executive committee is requested to co-operate with other agencies for the purpose of bringing about a radical revision of these methods and for standardization of statements.

"We believe in truth," the declaration continues, "not only in printed words, but in every phase of business connected with the creation, publication and dissemination of advertising.

"Government agencies insist on 'full weight packages and 'full weight' circulation figures. They should also insist on 'full weight' delivery in every commercial transaction involved in advertising."

The report was signed by three representatives from each of the thirteen branches of the business represented at the convention.

The formation of a retailers' advertising association with M. M. Gillam, of New York, as president was announced. The new organization is to be an associate body of the national association.

Porcelain.

(From The Pall Mall Gazette.)

Some people may not be aware of the origin of the word "porcelain." When, in the sixteenth century, traders introduced this Chinese product into Europe, its polished, translucent surface was thought to resemble cowrie shells, which, from their supposed likeness to the shape of a little pig, were called "porcellana."

GOVERNOR COMMUTED SENTENCE OF GARRETT.

It was stated in yesterday's Constitution that the governor had declined the recommendation of the prison board in commuting the sentence of James Garrett, who was serving a sentence of twelve months in the chaingang for selling liquor. This was an error. The governor acted favorably upon the application and commuted the sentence.

The impression also may have been made that the governor had doubtful whether they were asking for a commutation of sentence in this case or a parole, while in fact they have held they cannot do in misdemeanor cases. It is true that the governor was at first in doubt as to what they were asking for, and did appeal to Secretary Ulm to settle the apparent conflict between the inside of the commission's recommendation and the indorsement on the back of it.

This confusion was found to be due, however, to a trifling clerical error an dnot to any neglicence on the part of the commissioners themselves.

MORE SLIDES OCCUR IN THE CULEBRA CUT

Panama, June 13.—There has been increased activity while they have held they cannot do in misdemeanor cases. It is true that the governor was at first in doubt as to what they were asking for, and did appeal to Secretary Ulm to settle the apparent conflict between the inside of the commission's recommendation and the indorsement on the back of it.

This confusion was found to be due, however, to a trifling clerical error an dnot to any neglicence on the part of the commissioners themselves.
